British Officer Claims Nips Have Deliberately Handed Over Arms To Troops In Java

FIGHTING CONTINUES

By LEIF ERICKSON
Batavia, Nov. 14.—(P)—Fighting with unabated fury in Java today, and in Batavia, Gen. D. C. Hawthorn accused the commander of the Japanese Army and his chief of staff of having deliberately handed over to "unruly elements" in Java.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland in Soerabaja said British troops battling in the heart of the island have hurled back the Indonesian attacks during the night, killing more than 100 and sustaining a half dozen casualties of their own in fighting for Kota railway station and marling yards. The British threw 6-pounder barrage against Indonesians entrenching in pre-war built concrete pill boxes in Java.

Haugland reported that the British were moving slowly in order to take their casualties low, and that they might take the better part of a week to clean out the remaining half of Soerabaja still in nationalist hands.

A reliable unofficial estimate placed the number of Indonesians opposing the British in Soerabaja between 15,000 and 18,000 men, many armed with spears. In the capital, the two Japanese generals accused of the unsuccessful surrender of the island were bundled off by plane to Singapore to face charges.

Hawthorn administered a verbal thrashing to the two generals, Lt. Yuihiro Nagano and his staff, Maj. Gen. Moichiro Yamamoto, at a formal surrender ceremony, held a full six weeks after the arrival of British troops.

Japanese generals surrendered their swords to Hawthorn, who was commander of the 23rd Indian Division.

Indonesian nationalists at Soerabaja continued to put up stubborn resistance to steadily advancing troops even as the new Indonesian premier, Sutan Sjahrir, pressed to go there in an attempt to bring about a cessation of hostilities.

The nationalists fought from war, Dutch-built concrete pill boxes and air raid shelters in the heart of the city against advancing Fifth Indian Division troops, last reported driving on (Turn to Page Seven)

Japan Pleads For Goods and Fuel

Tokyo, Nov. 14.—(P)—Desperately hungry Japan appealed today for Allied food and promising to pay—in installments—shipments of gold, diamonds, silk and other goods.

General MacArthur's headquarters reported that it was not ready to indicate what the Allied answer to the Japanese Minister of Commerce, Shigenori Togo, would be. He made it clear that Japan's alternatives are simple: surrender or die.

Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, while reported that occupying forces in Japan and Korea near their peak and soon will be freed from their present 460,000 men.

He did not say, however, soon the U. S. forces might be reduced to the minimum 200,000 which Arthur has indicated will, by spring, be adequate.

FILE TOT KILLED CROSSING HIGHWAY

Montgomery, Nov. 14.—(P)—A truck struck and killed five-year-old Dorothy Williams yesterday while she was crossing the highway with a bag of candy she just bought.

The child, a daughter of Mrs. J. Williams of near Smithfield, accompanied an older brother sister to the store on their way to school, and on the return darted across the highway not noticing the approaching truck.

BOND ISSUE FOR MEMORIAL FAVORED

Warren wants a Living Memorial Park if the reaction to the proposal made last evening by the Times-Mirror can be taken as a criterion of public opinion. On every hand came words favoring the project, while there was a weak minority that seemed to feel that such a huge expenditure for an athletic park was not called for at present.

However, Warren generally responded to the idea in good shape. It was felt that by a bond issue and taxation of the entire population the plant as designed could be built in its entirety and not dragged out over a period of years. The fairness of the project of erecting the plant by taxation also seems to have appealed to all.

It was recalled by several that there is a Federal fund by which a portion of the cost could be defrayed. This fund was set up as a post-war project builder and investigation should be made into that possibility. There is perhaps a state fund that could also be tapped.

Warren seems to seriously want a Living Memorial and those who have the project in hand can well look into every avenue from which funds could be arrived, so that a complete park, with all the desired features, could be erected during the coming months.

Montrose, Nov. 14.—(P)—Jean Marie, the 18-pound baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Strohl, passed the two-month mark "developing like all get out," said Dr. H. M. Fry.

Dr. Fry said he hasn't visited the Strohl home for a month. "What's the use?" he said. "She's fine and she now weighs 25 pounds."

Jean Marie was born September 12, one of the heaviest babies on record. Her dad is a lumberjack and her mother says she's "just a housewife." They have 14 other children.

Jackson Motion Is Given Support

By GEORGE TUCKER
Nuernberg, Nov. 14.—(P)—French and Soviet prosecutors reversed themselves today and voted in favor of a United States proposal to substitute Alfred Krupp for his father, ailing Gustav Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, as a defendant in the forthcoming war crimes trials.

At the same time Justice Robert H. Jackson, U. S. prosecutor, recommended a 12-day postponement of the trials until Dec. 2. The trials are scheduled to open Nov. 20. The motions were heard today in the first public session of the court.

The British prosecutor, Sir David Maxwell, has opposed the substitution, holding that the elder Krupp should be tried in absentia. He also opposed any delay in the opening of the trials.

Jackson filed a motion with the court. (Turn to Page Seven)

Forgetful Pittsburgh Officer Found Guilty By Trial Board

Pittsburgh, Nov. 14.—(P)—A man police trial board today found Police Bertillon Expert Hec-Marianna guilty of neglect of duty on a charge of delaying discovery that he had found jewelry in the Frank Amberson case.

The jewelry comprised a diamond-encrusted ruby ring and gold chain which Amberson, a Springfield, Conn., was the night as shot to death in Schenley last month.

Marianna said he recovered the jewelry alongside Amberson's auto.

LIST OF JAP ATROCITIES IS INCREASING

Story of Inhuman Bayoneting and Burning Alive of American Airmen Verified by Pictures

FILIPINOS BEHEADED

Manila, Nov. 14.—(P)—The story of the inhuman bayoneting and burning alive of two American airmen was added today to the long list of atrocities charged against Japanese soldiers in the Philippines.

Remains of the fliers, gunners from a twin-engine plane that crashed off Cebu, were found by an American officer in charge of graves registration, who told the U. S. military commission trying Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on charges of atrocity.

The officer exhibited pictures of the charred bodies, their hands still tied behind their backs, and said he had found marks at the base of the men's necks where they had been struck by a heavy instrument. A Filipino told him the men had been bayoneted beside a hole, their bodies covered with gasoline and ignited. One man struggled to the edge of the hole, where his pleas for water were met with a deluge of gasoline which Japanese soldiers ignited again.

Yamashita's interpreter told the commission he saw Japanese military policemen behead 26 Filipino men and one woman in forty minutes at a north Manila cemetery. The witness, who worked for the south Manila military police garrison, told of seeing an order to the garrison issued by Yamashita, commanding the work and treatment of guerrillas in and around Manila.

The prosecution speedily presented a series of new witnesses who told of other bayonet killings and burning of civilians throughout the archipelago.

Babe Born After Crash Doing Well

Punxsutawney, Nov. 14.—(P)—Mrs. Frank Martz and the baby son born to her after the family car was hit by a train were reported "doing better" today at Adrian hospital.

The child was born a few yards from the hospital to which Frank Martz, a dairyman, and daughter, Mary, 21, were hurrying with Mrs. Martz for the expected new arrival.

The daughter, trapped in the car, died from injuries after workers with acetylene torches released her.

Mrs. Martz suffered fractures of one arm and both legs. The baby, despite an injury near an eye and burns on the side, is expected to live. The father was discharged from the hospital yesterday after treatment of minor injuries.

Hospital attendants said the burns suffered by the infant indicated the birth occurred in the car, which caught fire after the crash. Investigators first thought the mother had been thrown clear of the wreckage.

Congress Will Be Kept In Session

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Senate Majority Leader Barkley said today a White House call by that Congress will not adjourn until it completes action on what he called "must" legislation.

Leaving a conference with President Truman in which Senator McKellar, president pro tempore, Speaker Rayburn and House Majority Leader McCormack also participated, Barkley asserted:

"We talked about the legislative program I related to you in my adjournment. We are not going to adjourn until we are through if it takes up to Christmas."

Barkley described as must legislation bills on: Full employment, government reorganization, UNRRA funds, appropriations cutbacks, the second war powers act and a pending deficiency appropriation bill.

Both Barkley and Speaker Rayburn said there was no prospect of action before adjournment on a proposal to unify the armed forces and President Truman's universal training request.

DISPUTE UNSETTLED AT TALON FACTORIES

Meadville, Nov. 14.—(P)—The Talon, Inc., strike which has made 3,700 idle here and at Erie was stalemated when a three-day conciliation conference broke up last evening without agreement being reached.

William F. McIntyre, director of industrial relations for Talon, said no date was set for further discussion. Both he and the union declined other comment on the meeting.

The strike at the three local zipper plants began Oct. 24, the one at Erie Nov. 7.

A meeting between representatives of the Meadville Malleable Iron Works and the CIO-United Steelworkers was to be held today in another local work stoppage. The company and the union agree there is no strike.

Industry Planning to Lay on Line Stand on Every Big Issue Before The Management-Labor Conference

JEWS STRIKE IN PROTEST OF BRITISH PLAN

All Shops, Restaurants, and Factories Closed and Buses and Taxis Stopped

MASS MEETINGS HELD

BULLETIN
Jerusalem, Nov. 14.—(P)—Several hundred Jewish youths stoned bus drivers today in protest against continued operation of their vehicles during a 12-hour general strike called by Jews at noon.

Jerusalem, Nov. 14.—(P)—A 12-hour general Jewish strike in protest to new British proposals for settling the Palestine problem started at noon today without incident.

All Jewish shops, restaurants, work shops and factories were closed and Jewish-operated buses and taxis stopped.

Jewish workers in essential services were requested to continue work in military camps, hospitals, postoffices, telegraph and broadcasting stations as well as at the El Aviv harbor, where the first cargo ship to arrive since 1940 began unloading merchandise.

The people of Palestine eagerly were studying British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's statement. A number of mass meetings and demonstrations were planned in Palestine towns during the afternoon.

There was widespread objection throughout Palestine to the statement of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin that Britain and the United States jointly would attempt to solve the problem; and to his intimation that eventually Palestine would be placed under a trusteeship. Britain at present governs Palestine under a League of Nations mandate.

Fleeing Of Veterans Irks Capital Police

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—(P)—The commonwealth and the capital city promised "100 per cent" cooperation today to "stamp out any racket" of fleeing discharged servicemen of their mustering out allowance and other money.

Reports that ex-soldiers flocking through the city with bulging wallets and being robbed while tarrying between trains and buses, evoked a joint statement from Governor Martin and Mayor Howard E. Milliken.

Governor Martin and Mayor Milliken said in a joint statement that "we are advised that similar conditions prevail at separation centers throughout the country," but that "everything possible" will be done to protect servicemen in Pennsylvania.

A discharged officer and enlisted man is handed from $50 to $75 in cash at the finance pay window as one of the last acts in his separation process, said an officer at Indiantown Gap. Part of that represents the first monthly installment of $100 toward his mustering-out pay, with succeeding installments paid by check, mailed directly to his home. In addition, he gets the balance of his pay and allowance and railroad fare to his home in another check which is handed to him. There have been instances where this has amounted to several thousand dollars.

Bomb Talks Await Russian Reaction

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Allied officials involved in the atomic bomb talks here indicated today they are largely concerned about Russia's reaction to the forthcoming Anglo-American-Canadian proposal for controlling atomic force.

There is a strong feeling evident on the part of some that this is one of the climatic weeks of history. Decisions now being whirled into shape will influence vitally the future of Anglo-American relations with Russia. These relations are the core of United Nations plans for policing world peace.

Evidence recently available from British authorities is that President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada will seek particularly in their communications on plans for international atomic controls to reassure Russia. This may be done by offering to share scientific knowledge of atomic power fully with the Soviet Union and other countries.

Another session was set for 2:30 p. m. today.

PENNSY DIVIDEND

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—(P)—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad today declared a dividend of $1.50 per share on capital stock, payable on and after December 13, 1945, to stockholders of record at the close of business November 24, 1945.

The board also declared a dividend of $1.50 per share on preferred stock, payable on and after December 13, 1945, to stockholders of record at the close of business November 24, 1945.

"Time Has Arrived To Shove Things Along" President Of Manufacturers Group Insists

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Industry plans to lay on the line, today or tomorrow, its stand on every big issue before President Truman's management-labor conference.

As the industrial peace parley entered its tenth day, the management delegation decided, in the words of President Ira Mosher of the National Association of Manufacturers, that the time has come to "shove things along a little."

Almost the entire 18-member industry delegation started work last night on a statement of business' position on collective bargaining, observance of contracts, jurisdictional quarrels and other subjects on the conference agenda.

As they worked, however, one of the nation's most important wage disputes—the CIO demand for a $2 daily wage increase from today as the company rejected Secretary of Labor Schweikert's second appeal to resume negotiations with the union.

The union, which is demanding a $2 a day wage increase from the company and plans strike votes among some 500,000 workers within three weeks, had accepted Schweikert's invitation to meet with a special government conciliator in Washington today.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of "Big Steel," however, advised the labor secretary that further discussions would be fruitless until OPA acts on long-pending requests for steel price increases. The union had accepted the invitation to resume talks.

Fairless told Schweikert that "we believe in and strongly support" collective bargaining, "we feel no useful purpose could be served by the proposed meetings."

Schweikert had arranged the meeting for today, under a special conciliator, Arthur S. Meyer, of the New York State Mediation Board, after U. S. Steel had declined a similar request for negotiations on the same ground.

In a broadcast interview (ABC) shortly after his final reply to the labor secretary, Fairless contended that negotiations were being "blocked by the union and the government."

He said the union was obstructing peaceful settlement through President Philip Murray's declaration, in a meeting last month, that the union's demand was "not subject to dickering or compromise."

Fairless added that the government was blocking an agreement by OPA's tardiness in giving price relief when many steel products were selling at less than cost.

Fairless said the requested wage increase would cost the steel industry "at least $225,000,000 a year" and added this was more than all steel companies now are earning.

He explained the company's refusal to follow President Truman's suggestion that business grant wage increases and then apply, six months later, for price increases if necessary, with these words: "We would simply have to sell many steel products at a greater loss—we can't pay wage increases out of thin air."

Reds Destroying Chinese Railroads

Chungking, Nov. 14.—(P)—Chinese Communists have destroyed one-tenth of all China's railways—approximately 875 miles of track—causing "widespread dislocation" of the country's transportation network, Cabinet Spokesman P. H. Chang asserted today.

He said, however, that trains still were running on the Peiping-Mukden railroad between Peiping and the North-China seaport of Chinwangtao, coal-loading point guarded by U. S. Marines.

Tatung-Puchow and Peiping-Suiyuan railroads, linking China with inner Mongolia, are "almost entirely inoperative," he reported.

SS is the Canton-Hankow line in South China between Kukuang in Kwangtung province and Leiyang in Hunan province, he added. Breaks also were acknowledged on the Lunghai railroad in north-central China near Chengchow and Tungkuang.

Laub claimed at the time of Bromley's arrest that he had told another inmate in Western Penitentiary that he had "something to do" with the Wilkinson slaying. Bromley was serving a sentence for rape of an elderly woman.

Two more musical organizations have signed their intention of participating in the Victory Bond parade to be held in Warren on Saturday, November 24. The Russell High School Band, an organization of about thirty instruments, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Titchner, will feature Miss Marjorie Ramsdell, a drum major with several years experience in theatrical work, which including a balancing act.

From Johnsonburg, the Central Fire Hose Company, under Chief L. C. McAlee, will come a forty-piece band, together with a uniformed marching drill team of about the same number. This unit has not appeared in Warren before and promises to be one of the outstanding attractions of the parade.

Negotiations are under way for the services of the Ridgway High School Band, with hopes of being successful. Mr. Nelson, superintendent of the Ridgway schools, was born in Warren and is very much interested in helping to make the event successful. His high school band is one of the best in this section, and if they come they will lead the parade on this occasion.

NEW IMPASSE IN U. S. STEEL NEGOTIATIONS

Labor Secretary Advised That Further Discussions Must Await Action Of O.P.A.

270,000 ARE STILL IDLE

By the Associated Press
The wage dispute between the United States Steel Corporation and the CIO United States Steel Workers came to a new impasse today as the company rejected Secretary of Labor Schweikert's second appeal to resume negotiations with the union.

Erie County Murder Trial Opens Today

Erie, Nov. 14.—(P)—The murder trial of Frank L. Bromley, Jr., 23, of Corry, for the three-year-old "Lover's Lane" slaying of Chief Petty Officer Lloyd Wilkinson opened in Erie county court today. District Attorney Burton R. Laub said he would seek the death penalty.

Wilkinson, a resident of near Harbor Creek, was fatally shot as he sat in an automobile on a lonely road near North East on Good Friday in 1942. The case baffled police until the arrest of Bromley last March.

The prosecution disclosed the state has summoned more than 80 witnesses in an attempt to build up a chain of circumstantial evidence. Chief witness will be Mrs. Ruby Eastman Stetson, who was in Wilkinson's car at the time of the shooting.

When the case was called today, Defense Attorney Paul Stephany and Jesse Juliane moved for postponement of the trial until January on grounds that Laub was elected county judge last year and the jury "might be prejudiced in thinking that a judge was prosecuting the case."

Judge J. Orin Waite denied the motion and the selection of jurors commenced. One juror, Mrs. Carl Heigel of Erie, was chosen during the morning session of court.

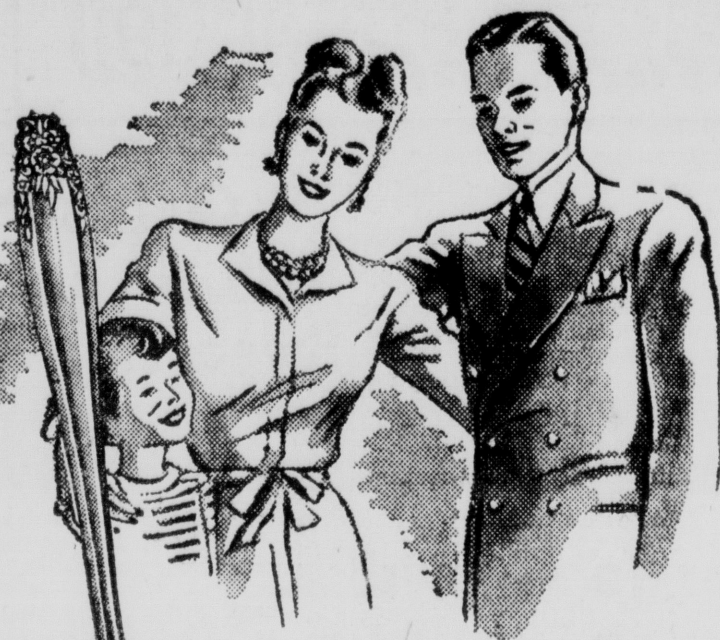

Laub claimed at the time of Bromley's arrest that he had told another inmate in Western Penitentiary that he had "something to do" with the Wilkinson slaying. Bromley was serving a sentence for rape of an elderly woman.

Two more musical organizations have signed their intention of participating in the Victory Bond parade to be held in Warren on Saturday, November 24. ### Tidioute DAR Anniversary Recalls Interesting Earlier Events --- Names

The Tidioute chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, fittingly observed the 45th anniversary of its organization, Thursday evening, Nov. 8, which proved to be one of the most delightful events in the history of the chapter. At 7 o'clock a fine dinner was served at the Blue and White dining room at Tidioute with tables appropriately decorated, a beautiful birthday cake containing 45 small candles in evidence and each honor guest and chapter officer the recipient of a corsage bouquet.

Among the honor guests were Mrs. Benjamin Ramage Williams of Butler, state regent; Mrs. E. S. McAlevy, Oil City, state librarian; Mrs. Warren Ross Carlin, Warren, state secretary of conservation, and the following guests of neighboring chapters: Mrs. Ray C. Picke, Mrs. Fred C. Eaton, Miss Harriet B. Eaton, Mrs. O. H. Baird, regent of the Gen. Joseph Warren chapter, Miss Inez Brownell, all of Warren; Mrs. Ira D. Stover, regent of Putnam-King chapter, Oil City; Mrs. Frank Hildebrand, Butler; and Mrs. S. F. Marks, Saltsburg, Pa. As the guests of honor were presented by the regent of the Tidioute chapter, Mrs. Harold Roe Hawkey, each responded with a few words of greeting. The benediction was pronounced by Mrs. F. R. Klinefelter of Tionesta.

At the close of the dinner the happy, patriotic company adjourned to the home of Miss Martha Jennings, who with her sister, Mrs. Harry Jennings, proved a delightful hostess and the house a fit setting for a historical meeting since it is the oldest frame dwelling house in that section of the Allegheny valley, having been built by Thomas Arters in 1824 and purchased by the late Harry Jennings and his sister, Martha, who rebuilt the interior similar to a colonial mansion house. Here a most delightful evening was spent, the most outstanding features being the group singing, opened with "My Pennsylvania" by Dr. Nancy Morrow and short speeches by Mrs. Warren Ross Carlin of Warren, Mrs. Benjamin Ramage Williams, state regent, of Butler, and others, including the fine "History of the Tidioute Chapter," by Mrs. Abigail Cummings Hawkey, daughter of the honored founder of the chapter, Mrs. Charlotte J. Sink Cummings, wife of the late Hon. H. H. Cummings, one of the prosperous oil producers of his day, and one of the most beloved men of his time. Contributing much to the program were two piano solos played by Mrs. Charlotte Rosequist.

The reporter regrets that space will not permit even a resume of the history, prepared so carefully. But it is interesting to have brought to one's attention that group of interested descendants of the "Old Continentals," who met with Mrs. Cummings and her two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Cummings Ellis and Miss Laura F. Cummings (Mrs. A. B. White), Mrs. Bertha Pierce Cummings, Mrs. Nancy A. Magee Nable, Miss Mary Louise Magee, Mrs. Margaret R. M. Hunter (Mrs. Jahu, Sr.), Mrs. Jane Young Barnes, Mrs. Harriet Curtis Shaw, Miss Clara Carter Siggins, Miss Alice Neill Siggins, Miss Georgianna Siggins and Mrs. Lucinda M. H. Turner, who comprised the roll of charter members. Of these two remain: Mrs. White and Miss Alice Siggins, who was but a young woman at the time.

Mrs. Cummings was a born leader, wise, diplomatic, loyal and a hard worker, so that in 12 years the chapter numbered 150, including outstanding workers in various communities such as Mrs. S. E. Walker, Mrs. Willis Cowan, Mrs. W. J. Mead, Mrs. Henry Ridel, Mrs. L. L. Hunter, Mrs. S. F. Marks, Mrs. E. B. Grandin and many others of Tidioute; Mrs. W. O. Fuelhart and Mrs. George Warden of Endeavor; Mrs. Orion Siggins and Mrs. W. J. Leonard, West Hickory; Mrs. L. J. Hopkins, Mrs. A. B. Kelly, Mrs. S. M. Sharpe, and Mrs. G. F. Watson, Tionesta. Finally at a meeting of the chapter at the Conewango club at Warren, Feb. 22, 1911, transfers were granted 40 members in Warren who organized the Gen. Joseph Warren chapter.

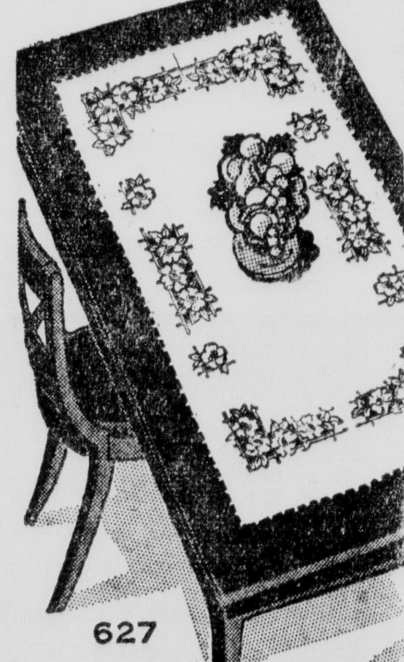

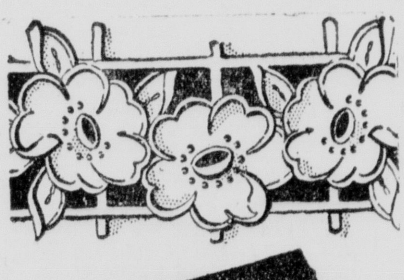

The Tidioute chapter continued to grow steadily. The meetings were elaborate and always charming, but the D. A. R. work was never neglected. Tidioute chapter has always done its part. No doubt the most outstanding work of the chapter was the erection of the monument of Gen. Joseph Warren who was killed at the battle of Bunker Hill and for whom the county of Warren was named. It was a tremendous undertaking to erect a finished granite monument with a bronze figure of Gen. Warren on it, in addition to the tablet containing the names of all Revolutionary soldiers buried in Warren county. But Mrs. Cummings knew no such word as fail and said, "We want every man, woman and child in Warren county to have a part in this monument, and to feel when they go to Warren and see it there that they too have given their bit to honor the memory of Revolutionary soldiers buried in the county." Tag days were established for school children and the evenings of May 7 and 8, 1919, were thrilling moments for the present regent of the Tidioute chapter as she, as a child, listened to the reports which came over the phone from Corydon, Kinzua, Sheffield, Warren, Youngsville and elsewhere. Every town and hamlet contributed to the fund and citizens throughout the county most generously as well as Hon. N. P. Wheeler and Hon. Joseph Sibley of Forest and Venango counties. That same winter the Continental Congress, D. A. R. endorsed Mrs. Cummings for state regent of Pennsylvania. While she was state regent she organized Putnam-King chapter of Oil City.

Mrs. Cummings' successor as regent was Mrs. Lillian Acomb Hunter who later became treasurer general. Following Mrs. Hunter was Mrs. Orion Siggins of West Hickory and next Mrs. S. F. Marks. Others who have served as regent are Mrs. Vernah Watson Shewman Stitzinger, Mrs. Marion Carringer and Mrs. Harold Roe Hawkey—two terms. —N. M.

Many Will Benefit

While there are still some scattered reports to be turned in, it is learned from officers of the Warren Branch, Needlework Guild of America, that this year's in-gathering, the 60th in the history of national organization, brought in more than 1,500 garments and items of wearing apparel which will go to the needy of Warren county. Those who visited the Woman's Club on November 2, occasion of the garment display and tea held by the local branch, were gratified with the show—gifts were received this fall and the quality of merchandise showed a definite improvement, despite continued shortages in many lines of wearing apparel. There were more sweaters, suits and other items for the school-age child, together with a very good showing for the infants' wear section, a department of which the Visiting and State Nurses had made particular requests. The collection has shown a steady increase in the past few years, reaching its highest figure of 1,623 in 1943. The year before that the total was 2,376 and in 1944, 1,540. The items collected by the Guild are distributed among the Visiting Nurses, Warren Relief Association, the Children's Aid Society and as special gifts to the Children's Home. As has been their custom for several years, Girl Scouts of the town and county made garments and items for the collection and Boy Scouts offered their assistance in distribution of the articles. Members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club, while not attaining their 100 per cent goal this year, turned in 119 items and cash amounting to $4.

"GIFTS FOR THE YANKS"

The "Gifts for the Yanks" program started last year is again inaugurated nationally by the American Legion and Auxiliaries, and the Chief Complanter Post of this city has requested Warren retailers to:

- Set up receiving stations for the gifts;
  - Arrange special displays of suggested items;
  - Publicize their own participation in the program.
- The Legion committee will provide display posters, newspaper publicity and the necessary work in collecting, packing and shipping the gifts to the distributor centers.

Suggested gifts include books, things to wear, smoker's items, toiletries, stationery, notions—in fact, everything but war stories or perishable food stuffs.

The program is being boosted again this year by Eddie Cantor.

Packages go to every hospital throughout the world where there is a disabled serviceman or woman.

Individual donor's card may be enclosed in the package given.

A campaign is now under way to secure the cooperation of local stores, and it is anticipated that the same whole-hearted support will be given the project as that which made the campaign so successful a year ago.

EATING POULTRY FOR STEADY NERVES

Do you have postwar jitters?

Paul H. Margolf, Pennsylvania State College poultry expert, advises reaching for a leg of chicken or a turkey wing.

He says eating either is good for the nerves. "Poultry," he explains, "is easier to digest and richer nutritionally than most other foods. Turkey and chicken have both proved helpful in restoring good health to battle-weary veterans."

Traditionally a holiday food, poultry is finally coming into its own as a standard part of the everyday American diet, according to the Penn State specialist.

Meat rationing, plus heavy consumption of poultry by members of the armed services, has cultivated the habit on a large scale, and Margolf thinks the public will go right on eating poultry.

This year's poultry crop, he says, will easily meet consumer demands. Roasting chickens may be a little short, he adds, but there'll be plenty of broilers and fryers.

ANOTHER HITLER ERROR

It has been noted already that Hitler might have had the atom bomb himself if his persecution of the Jews hadn't driven the eminent physicist Lise Meitner from Germany and permitted her to make her pioneering work available to the Allies.

Now it develops that the eight Nazi saboteurs who landed here in 1942 might have got in a lot of damaging dirty work if one of them, angered by the Gestapo's brutal treatment of his wife, hadn't turned informer.

Crime, as the man on the radio keeps telling us, doesn't pay. And fortunately for the world, Hitler apparently didn't listen to American broadcasts.

With over 100 requests made for the list of rooms available for hunters, the Chamber of Commerce feels that the Warren County Playground idea is worth promoting. If private capital will only build camps and cottages for summer and hunting season use, there is no reason why hundreds of visitors cannot be attracted to this county.

State Senator L. E. Chapman must feel proud of his efforts to rouse the people of this state to the ravages of cancer. More and more interest is being shown every day and Temple University is the last to receive a big gift for research work. Starting such a ball rolling is the crowning achievement of a lifetime of service to mankind on the part of the genial doctor.

With State funds soon to be released for the improvement of State Hospitals, here's hoping that the program at the Warren institution is carried out as recommended by Superintendent Israel some months ago. The model hospital of the state should be kept in that enviable condition.

Now that the war is over, isn't it about time to build that addition the Court House needed so badly only a few short months ago? For Heaven's sake, build it big enough this time!

With wet, slippery roads and worn tires, motorists will do well to drive carefully these fall days.

Can a Pro Team Beat Army? Neale Says Yes and Owen No

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Nov. 14.—(P)—Stout Steve Owen of the New York football Giants can expect to have his previous high standing among the professional gridironers seriously impaired if he doesn't cease and desist from raving about Army's football team.

The Giants' mentor is flaunting one of the oldest rules and traditions of the play-for-pay circuit by refusing to say that any team in the National Professional League could lick Army or any other college outfit three times in an afternoon if the light held out.

"I'm simply not going to say one way or another," he replied firmly when asked how he thought the Cadets' unbeaten eleven would fare against one of the good professional clubs.

"It's one of the greatest football teams I ever saw," he said. "I've seen two such backs as Glenn and Doc Blanchard in the same backfield, and that big, swift line of theirs is nothing short of wonderful."

"It would be difficult to think back to a college team that might have played on even terms."

Owen was asked if he thought Davis and Blanchard would be able to eat up yardage in the professional game.

"Look," he said seriously, "carrying the ball in the pro game is no different from carrying it in college. Stars like Davis and Blanchard, given a line in front of them, can run anywhere."

ATTENTION ALL BOWLING ALLEYS

Once again we must remind you that bowling scores must be sent to the Times-Mirror as soon after the match as possible and with complete information attached. When sending in your scores, be sure to have where the matches were played. Thus far this season the Elk League has been most delinquent in this report. Get on your toes, Brownie! SPORTS ACROSS PENNSYLVANIA

By Tom Shriver

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—(P)—The Harrisburg Lions club claimed a record for yardage gained on the part of its "players of the week."

The Lions named Dick Lockhart of William Penn High as their first "player of the week." . . . He intercepted a pass and ran 90 yards . . . Then Bob Cordier of William Penn was honored . . . He grabbed a pass and ran 101 yards . . . Finally the club has paid tribute to George Taleff of Steelton . . . He ran 102 yards against Shamokin.

The club will select ten players during the season . . . One of the ten will receive the Nobe Frank Memorial Trophy in honor of the late captain of the first University of Pittsburgh eleven that Jack Sutherland coached.

Lions In Spotlight

Two other Lions Clubs are grabbing a share of the football spotlight . . . In both cases for worthy causes . . . The Erie Lions will stage their seventh annual "Save

An Eye" football game on Nov. 23, with all proceeds going to provide glasses for worthy Erie County recipients . . . The idea of the game started in the sports department of the Erie Dispatch Herald . . .

Inspired by the success of the "Save An Eye" game, the Lions Club of Oil City borrowed the pattern and will stage a game on Friday, Nov. 16 . . . The players will come from Shenango Valley and the Upper Allegheny Valley . . . Most of the stars in Northwest Pennsylvania will take part in the game.

Julian Moves Up

Most scholastic grid followers knew Al "Doggie" Julian when he coached Muhlenberg . . . He put the Mules in the big time in basketball . . . Then he went to Holy Cross as assistant grid coach and head basketball coach . . . Now comes word that John "On" DeGrossa will quit as head football coach . . . And the job will go to Julian.

Another For Pluf

When Bradford High wound up its grid season by jolting Erie Academy, 20-13, it marked another triumph for Bob Pluf . . . The Oyl coach has watched his grid teams win 88 games in a span of 14 years . . . It was the tenth win over an Erie school in 14 starts . . .

A Nifty Harrier

Turning from football it might be timely to toss a few bouquets to Charles "Chuck" Himes . . . He is a cross country runner at Meadville . . . And has already set three course records in winning at various distances . . . Now he goes to State College on Saturday for the annual PIAA cross country meet . . .

18 Gridsters Will Receive Sweaters, 'W'

J. B. Leidig, High School Athletic director, announced this morning that 18 players on the 1945 Dragon football squad were eligible to receive sweaters and "W's", the usual awards made to all outstanding players and managers.

Sixteen of the group will receive both the sweater and letter, while Robert Gerardi and Jim Scallie, previously awarded a sweater, will receive letters only. The presentations will be made at an assembly in the High School at a later date. Four of those receiving awards will return to the fold next season. They are Don Duckett, Dave Lopez, Frank Shamsala, and Ed Wollaston, all juniors.

Large Crowd Expected At Benefit Game

Over 5000 fans are expected to take in the "Fight For Sight" benefit game, sponsored by the Oil City Lions Club, Friday night at Oil City between the Allegheny Valley all-stars and the Shenango Valley all-stars. Floyd W. Bathurst, principal, announced today that both reserved tickets and general admission tickets are on sale at the local High School.

Warren's four representatives on the Allegheny group are Louis Bonace, Jim Scallie, Jack Hamilton, and John Tannier. The boys. (Turn to Page Ten)

Cast Announced For Children's Book Week Play

The cast for the children's play, Alice in Wonderland, was announced today. Boys and girls who will take part in the choral reading for Sunday's radio drama will be listed in tomorrow's Times-Mirror.

Sally Nelson, nine year old student at Seneca School, has been selected to play the role of Alice. Other principals will be as follows: Mabel Morse, the Red Queen; Jimmy Valone, the White Rabbit; Forrest Campbell, the March Hare; Ward Price, the Dormouse; Mike D'Angelo, the Mad Hatter; Robert Cowden, the Mock Turtle; Jimmy Henderson, the Cheshire Cat; John Mangus, the Caterpillar; Johan Stohl, the Gryphon; Jordan Overturn, Jr., the King.

Over 150 boys and girls attend tryouts, which indicates the extent of interest in children's dramas. This is the second year that a children's radio play has been one of the community features of the National Book Week and American Education Week celebration in Warren. This year the play will be presented on the Sunday afternoon series, sponsored by the Metzger-Wright Company, as the final event of the week.

Control of Japan Causes Deadlock

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today that the United States and Russia are still deadlocked over Soviet demands for the establishment of an Allied Control Council for Japan.

Russia, he said, is insisting upon a unanimity rule in the council similar to the one under which the Control Council in Berlin functions. Byrnes contended that the rule is responsible for failure of the Berlin group to accomplish many things that should have been done in Germany under the Potsdam agreement.

The United States is holding out for a council in which Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander in Japan, would have a decisive voice in case of disagreement.

Amsterdam Youth Picked Up By Police At Local Hotel

Officers on patrol last night noted a car being driven by a most youthful looking driver and placed it under observation. Later the driver registered at a local hotel and the officers set out to trace the car. It was found parked at the foot of Market street. Examination showed that one of the rear lights had been moved so that a portion of the license plate was obscured. Suspensions aroused the officers and went to the hotel and going to the lad's room questioned him.

The lad said his name was Lewis Russell Tryon, 16½ years of age and that his home was in Amsterdam, N. Y. He had registered under another name claiming that a friend of his told him never to register at a hotel with his correct name.

Officers then took the boy to Police Headquarters where he was questioned again. He said his mother was dead and his father had remarried and that he was driving the car of a friend, but without the friend's permission. Tryon claimed to have been in Akron, Ohio to visit his grandparents but could not find them and was on his way back home. His last money he had used at the hotel and he planned to work to get money to continue his homeward trip.

Police today communicated with the Amsterdam, N. Y., police and ascertained that the story told by the boy was substantially correct. The car did belong to a friend of the family and no charge will be filed in that connection. The father of the lad will arrive in Warren to take his son home with him and he is expected here tomorrow morning.

Schedule For Education Is Well Arranged

A complete schedule has been worked out by Warren public schools for the observance of American Education Week November 11-17, when parents and other school friends are cordially invited to visit the various buildings and share in what the students do during their school hours.

Today is visiting day at the Seneca building and this evening a Parents Night will be observed at the high school.

Last night an interesting program was presented at East street, while the Lacy building observes visiting days throughout the week.

Home street school teachers have sent attractive invitations to parents of their pupils to visit the building on Thursday and extend the same cordial invitation to all friends of the school.

At the Johnson school, teachers will hold open house from seven until eight o'clock Thursday evening, and at eight o'clock parents and friends will be privileged to enjoy the pupils' regular Thursday movie.

Thursday is also listed as visiting day at the McClintock and South street buildings, these teachers extending the same invitation to all parents and friends to view the students at work.

Concluding, Beatty school will present its special Education Week program on Friday evening, details to be announced later.

Bond Sales to Employees Continues Light

With the first returns complete from all county industries having a Pay Roll Savings quota, Victory Bond sales among employees are not showing the increase needed to make the drive a success. If quotas are to be reached, everyone must buy his share of Victory Bonds. According to reports received by B. V. Lesser of the Pay Roll Savings Division, only one out of every four employees in Warren industry is subscribing for bonds. Such a small number cannot carry the entire load and those who have not already bought bonds are urged to do so at once.

Chapter 1
[Saturday 5:30 p.m. to 6:05 p.m.]

THE uneasiness that had developed in the five weeks of her marriage possessed Julia now unchecked. She gave up trying to read the book she held and tried to discover what, actually, was at the bottom of the trouble.

Robey's attitude toward her since their marriage had been alternately indifference and fierce jealousy. It was a shock at first because she had thought he was in love with her. Her belief in his devotion and her deep obligation to him had made her consent to his fervent proposals although she had told him frankly she did not love him. Now his jealous tantrums and suspicions were becoming more frequent while, paradoxically, he showed at times a real dislike for her. It was not the fiery hate of a lover but a cold enmity. But he didn't want her to leave him. Her offer had brought on one of his worst rages.

She saw him as an image reflected in a pool, sometimes still and clear and sharp and again vague and badly distorted by a light ripple on the surface. That was the trouble, she thought, the odd things were small and she magnified them. In a strange situation and among people she knew hardly at all, her viewpoint was out of focus. It didn't mean Robey was unbalanced just because he craved a spotlight on and off the stage. That was natural for an actor. And she could never forget he had saved her life.

The speculative way he had gazed at her last night intruded on this logic and she shuddered. Some one—Jerry Hayes, she thought—had said that the loose birds—meaning Robey and she—were going to be forgotten by the press if something new didn't happen. That the public was tired of devotion stories.

Robey's look had frightened her. His large light blue eyes had stared blankly and she felt his thoughts racing madly behind them as if he plotted a new head-line and it didn't matter whether it was pleasant or not, it must be big. She had already learned that his idolatry of the press blinded him to any consequences of his plans if they achieved their purpose of putting him before the public.

The entrance of Moore into the library gave her a start.

"Mr. Harman is here, madam," he said. He was a tightly built stocky man, about forty-five, with a luxuriant growth of hair that made his head seem disproportionately large. His features were small and converged in the center of his fleshy face. He was far too exotic looking to make a comfortable servant. He had once been a juggler on the same vaudeville circuit that Robey had traveled before fame had tossed him into stardom. Moore treated his mistress in a knowing, superior manner that was irritating.

currently and in prospect, the veteran cannot obtain the maximum job opportunity which Congress has said should be given the men and women who have served their country in the armed forces. Employers should list with the USES the best opportunities they have as well as the general run of job openings. This will have a twofold effect. It will help the employer because the best equipped applicants will ask for referrals to his firm and this will give the firm a wider choice. It will help the applicants because it will give them a chance at the best jobs open in the community."

ing but not definite enough to protest. She was ill at ease around him and avoided him if possible.

"I put him in the salon since you were in here, madam."

"All right," said Julia, feeling young and awkward. The use of the word "salon" had seemed strained to her at first but it had a dramatic quality which Robey liked.

ACROSS the hall she entered the spacious drawing room, her head high, and Frank Harman turned from a cocktail table on the opposite side of the room. The globe that fitted into the black plastic stop so that half of it was above the table, was spinning slowly and she put her hands silently and she put hers into them. She saw that this was the entrance his dramatic sense called for at the moment and she followed his cue. He was tall with an egg shaped head that tapered into a narrow mouth and pointed chin. There were gray hairs in the silky dark hair. These and the lines around his deep set hazel eyes made him appear older than his thirty-four years. The dark suit he wore was artfully tailored to make his shoulders broad. That he had a brilliant mind, Julia did not doubt. All of the plays which he and Robey had written and produced had had at least some mark of success. But she felt he had a somewhat precious charm which he mortified out by some secret standard of his own, weighing it meticulously as he dispensed it.

He stood there for a moment while his eyes went over her impersonally. She loosened her hands.

"Did you come from the matinee?"

He did not answer her but said in a smooth monotone, "As usual, you bowl me over. No one in this age has been so exquisitely beautiful. Low, wide forehead. Maybe too wide for classic dimensions but it makes you more interesting. You aren't a standard of loveliness but the quintessence of beauty itself. Glorious dark tresses like a black waterfall—eyes like melted sapphires—"

"You should put that in a play, Frank," she broke in. He dropped the role of admirer instantly.

"I saw Grace at the theatre."

A cold chill circled her. Frank was trying to tell her something—something unpleasant.

Grace had been Robey's wife before Julia. She had dragged him through a scandalous divorce which he had at first contended, then had suddenly capitulated, allowing her a large alimony. She was an exciting looking woman with reckless brown eyes and hair that was now dramatically platinum. Julia had met her at a night club and had recoiled from the unleashed spirit of the woman before she had known that Grace was an avowed enemy.

"Robey invited her here tonight and she's coming," Frank went on and his eyes went back to the globe in the cocktail table. "Alma is coming, too, Grace said," he finished and seemed relieved that the words were out.

Julia's heart pounded. Alma was Robey's first wife whom she had never seen. So she had been right. Robey planned something and his plans were always for a spectacular display.

November House-of-Month Is Designed For Expansion

Expansion is the keynote in "The Wayne," offered as the Warren National Bank House-of-the-Month for November. The first floor offers a five-room layout complete with both living and sleeping quarters. The second floor may be left unfinished, and, as the need manifests itself, be completed to add two bedrooms and an extra bath.

Considered a one and a half story, mainly because of this flexible feature, this colonial dwelling is being presented as the House-of-the-Month throughout the nation. The covered entry porch with a latticed corner for attractive climbing vines, opens into a foyer with convenient guest closet. Directly ahead is the stairway leading to the upper floor. The large living room, extending across the front of the house and the adjacent dining room at the rear, form a spacious "L". A bank of four windows face the street while the wood-burning fireplace and a built-in book cases create a cozy corner. In the square dining room, French windows which overlook the rear garden are flanked by corner cupboards.

The well planned kitchen, fitted with modern sliding door, is expertly planned to facilitate work. The service entrance permits direct access to the partial basement which is located under the living room, dining room and kitchen.

The sleeping quarters form a full wing containing two bedrooms each enjoying cross ventilation and ample wall space for arrangement of furniture. The larger, on the street side, is equipped with twin closets while the other bedroom has its own extra large closet. Separating these rooms is the bath with adjacent linen closet.

The second floor provides for two additional bedrooms, larger than those on the main floor, each with three windows and an unusually large closet. The extra bath with another linen closet in the hall completes this upper floor plan which may be finished any time the owner desires. When this is done, one of the bedrooms on the lower floor might very easily be converted into a den, library, or perhaps be used as a maid's room. Above the front bedroom and porch is an attic that can be used for general storage. Door to this space is in bedroom No. 4.

Measuring thirty-five feet in width, The Wayne extends to a depth of thirty-seven feet and is designed to comply with the standards and construction requirements of the FHA with the electrical wiring checked and approved by the National Adequate Wiring Bureau.

Colored sketches, together with complete floor plans are available at the Warren National Bank. A scale model, blueprints and complete specifications with alternates are on display in the bank lobby. For those who prefer other styles of architecture, similar material may be seen for many former Houses-of-the-Month.

Room Lists Circulated In Wide Area

Lists of available rooms and board for hunters who come into this territory each big game season have found a wide circulation. Issued by the Warren Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Warren County Field and Stream Club the lists had rooms and board for 474 persons.

Sec. Frank Kottcamp, of the Chamber of Commerce reported today that inquiries had been received and lists sent out to over 100 persons. Lists were also sent to the House Wagner Sporting Goods stores, Gimbel's and Kaufman's Sporting Goods Department in Pittsburgh. Undoubtedly many hunters purchasing outfits there received the lists.

This year is only the second in which lists have been made available to hunters and there are many in the county who could take hunters but who failed to have their names on the register. It is expected that in another year places for several additional scores of hunters will be on the register. The matter is in its infancy now but in future years it is confidently expected that Warren county can become the Mecca for big game hunters in the Allegheny National Forest.

During the past few weeks several parties from Pittsburgh vicinity point have visited this section intent on buying cottages or sites for cottages and camps. Interest is also being displayed by private capital in the matter of erecting cabins and cottages, in accordance with suggestion made by Supervisor Hemmingsway, of the Allegheny National Forest.

The Chamber of Commerce also has under way a project by which the restaurants and eating places will cooperate in handling the many visitors who will come to the community. A special committee will be named by President Ed Johnson of the Chamber to interview the restaurant men and urge them to stay open Sunday during the hunting season and to have other meals for the hunters.

Nurse Makes Many Visits

The report of the nurse presented at the monthly meeting of the Warren Visiting Nursing Association board shows a total of 32 cases handled in the month of October, 17 of these being new cases.

In the type of cases handled, chronic medical led with 26, acute medical followed with three and there was one case each for tuberculosis, post-natal, new-born and light care.

The nurse lists one sunshine lamp treatment, 52 office and telephone calls in addition to a total of 139 visits. These were divided as follows: Nursing 128, social service and welfare 5, new-born and post-natal, 3 each.

Her duties also included assistance with one Crippled Children's clinic and assistance with four Child Health clinics. In the latter group, 8 new babies were brought to clinic and two new children of pre-school age. Nineteen babies came for return visits and 16 in the older group.

The organization makes grateful acknowledgement, through the nurse's report, of a number of gifts received during the month. These included a wheel chair, two bedpans, old linen and a number of miscellaneous articles.

Will Enlarge Store to Meet Trade Demand

C. F. Bartsch today announced that he is planning to make additions to the space now occupied by the Bartsch store and that work is already under way. The new addition will afford space for the handling of a complete line of fine rugs and carpets. Contracts have also been made for the handling and sale of the complete line of Hotpoint appliances, such as refrigerators, washers, dish washers, sinks and cabinets for the complete kitchen. New contracts made will also give the firm several new lines of high class furniture which will be on display soon. The oldest furniture store in Warren will handle only the best.

Mr. Bartsch has also been able to get a carload of the famous Montana fir Christmas trees. This is the tree that is so popular because of the fact that the needles do not drop off in a warm room. It has been said to be nature's most beautiful tree. Bartsch's are the exclusive selling agent of this famous tree.

As Mr. Bartsch has been released from the U. S. Navy, he will be glad to welcome all old and new customers at his store. He wishes to extend his thanks for the wonderful patronage of his customers during his absence and is looking forward to greeting his customers in person at his store.

Health Enemy Number One

By MULLEN DRUG CO.

Do you know America's public enemy No. 1? Nine out of ten readers will miss that question. It's not tuberculosis nor heart disease, but high blood pressure.

The American College of Physicians has called high blood pressure "the most serious disease in American life."

It is the more serious because of wide prevalence, because it is often too lightly regarded, and because it can lead to conditions which are difficult to correct.

As a killer, it has overtaken and passed heart disease. The annual rate of deaths attributable to high blood pressure runs into the hundreds of thousands.

Your doctor can determine whether you have an abnormal blood pressure. See him once a year. And take all prescriptions to a reputable druggist.

CHARGE JAPS WITH AIDING INDONESIANS

British Officer Claims Nips Have Deliberately Handed Over Arms To Troops In Java

FIGHTING CONTINUES

By LEIF ERICKSON
Batavia, Nov. 14.—(P)—Fighting raged with unabated fury in Java today, and in Batavia Gen. D. C. Hawthorn accused the commander of the Japanese Army and his chief of staff of having deliberately handed over arms to "unruly elements" in Java.

A dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland in Soerabaja said British troops battling in the heart of the island were hurled back by Indonesian attacks during the night, killing more than 100 and sustaining a half dozen casualties of their own in fighting for Kota railway station and surrounding yards. The British threw 50-pounder barrage against Indonesians entrenching in pre-war built concrete pill boxes in area.

Haugland reported that the British were moving slowly in order to take the better part of the night to clean out the remainder of Soerabaja still in nationalist hands.

A reliable unofficial estimate placed the number of Indonesians joining the British in Soerabaja between 15,000 and 18,000 men, adding many armed with spears.

At the capital, the two Japanese generals accused of the unauthorized surrender of their arms were bundled off by plane to Singapore to face charges.

Hawthorn administered a verbal rebuke to the two generals, Lt. Yuchihiro Nagano and his staff, Maj. Gen. Moichiro Yamoto, at a formal surrender ceremony, held a full six weeks after the arrival of British troops.

Japanese generals surrendered their swords to Hawthorn, who was commander of the 23rd Indian Division.

Indonesian nationalists at Soerabaja continued to put up stubborn resistance to steadily advancing troops even as the new Indonesian premier, Sutan Sjahrir, declared to go there in an attempt to bring about a cessation of hostilities.

The nationalists fought from war, Dutch-built concrete pill boxes and air raid shelters in heart of the city against advancing Fifth Indian Division troops, last reported driving on (Turn to Page Seven)

Japan Pleads For Goods and Fuel

Tokyo, Nov. 14.—(P)—Desperately hungry Japan appealed today for Allied food and promising to pay—in installments—shipments of gold, diamonds, silk and other goods.

General MacArthur's headquarters reported that it was not ready to indicate what the Allied answer might be. Japanese Minister of Commerce Sankuro Ogasawara announced the formal application for the imports—mostly from America—to stave off threatening famine. He made it clear that Japan's alternatives are simple: starve or die.

Gen. Robert L. Eichelberger, while reported that occupying forces in Japan and Korea near their peak and soon will move from their present 460,000. He did not say, however, soon the U. S. forces might have the minimum 200,000 which Arthur has indicated will, by spring, be adequate.

FILE TOT KILLED CROSSING HIGHWAY

Montrose, Nov. 14.—(P)—A truck struck and killed five-year-old Dorothy Williams yesterday while she was crossing the highway with a bag of candy she just bought.

The child, a daughter of Mrs. Williams of near Smithfield, accompanied an older brother sister to the store on the return to school, and on the return started across the highway not noticing the approaching truck.

Forgetting Pittsburgh Officer Found Guilty By Trial Board

Pittsburgh, Nov. 14.—(A)—A man police trial board today found Police Bertillon Expert Hecarianna guilty of neglect of duty on a charge of delaying disarming that he had found lying in the street in the Frank Amberson case.

The jewelry comprised a diamond ring and gold chain which Amberson, a Sprague confectioner, wore the night he was shot to death in Schenley last month.

Marianna said he recovered the jewelry alongside Amberson's auto.

BOND ISSUE FOR MEMORIAL FAVORED

(An Editorial)

Warren wants a Living Memorial Park if the reaction to the proposal made last evening by the Times-Mirror can be taken as a criterion of public opinion. On every hand came words favoring the project, while there was a weak minority that seemed to feel that such a huge expenditure for an athletic park was not called for at present.

However, Warren generally responded to the idea in good shape. It was felt that by a bond issue and taxation of the entire population the plant as designed could be built in its entirety and not dragged out over a period of years. The fairness of the project of erecting the plant by taxation also seems to have appealed to all.

It was recalled by several that there is a Federal fund by which a portion of the cost could be defrayed. This fund was set up as a post-war project builder and investigation should be made into that possibility. There is perhaps a state fund that could also be tapped.

Warren seems to seriously want a Living Memorial and those who have the project in hand can well look into every avenue from which funds could be arrived, so that a complete park, with all the desired features, could be erected during the coming months.

Babe That Weighed 18 Pounds At Birth "Fine"

Montrose, Nov. 14.—(P)—Jean Marie, the 18-pound baby born to Mr. and Mrs. Francis Strohl, passed the two-month mark "developing like all get out," said Dr. H. M. Fry.

Dr. Fry said he hasn't visited the Strohl home for a month. "What's the use?" he said. "She's fine and she now weighs 25 pounds."

Jean Marie was born September 12, one of the heaviest babies on record. Her dad is a lumberjack and her mother says she's "just a housewife." They have 14 other children.

Jackson Motion Is Given Support

By GEORGE TUCKER

Nuernberg, Nov. 14.—(P)—French and Soviet prosecutors recommended a 12-day postponement of the trials until Dec. 2. The trials are scheduled to open Nov. 20. The motions were heard today in the first public session of the court.

The British prosecutor, Sir David Maxwell, has opposed the substitution, holding that the elder Krupp should be tried in absentia. He also opposed any delay in the opening of the trials.

Shortages Halt Output of Buicks

Flint, Mich., Nov. 14.—(P)—General Motors Corp. reported today that production of Buick automobiles had been halted by a parts shortage and that its Fisher body assembly line also had stopped.

An estimated 5,000 workers were affected in the total of approximately 16,000 employed in the Buick and Fisher plants. Company sources said the number might increase to 20,000 in Buick, Fisher and allied plants.

The cause was disputed. General Motors said in a prepared statement that a two-week "work stoppage" by CIO United Automobile Workers at the Midland Steel Company in Cleveland had caused the halt to Buick production by cutting off the supply of chassis frames.

In Cleveland the UAW-CIO said there was no strike at Midland Steel.

DISPUTE UNSETTLED AT TALON FACTORIES

Meadville, Nov. 14.—(P)—The Talon Inc. strike which has made 3,700 idle here and at Erie was stalemated when a three-day conciliation conference broke up last evening without agreement being reached.

William F. McIntyre, director of industrial relations for Talon, said no date was set for further discussion. Both he and the union declined other comment on the meeting.

The strike at the three local zipper plants began Oct. 24, the one at Erie Nov. 7.

A meeting between representatives of the Meadville Malleable Iron Works and the CIO-United Steelworkers was to be held today in another local work stoppage. The company and the union agree there is no strike.

LIST OF JAP ATROCITIES IS INCREASING

Story of Inhuman Bayoneting and Burning Alive of American Airmen Verified by Pictures

FILIPINOS BEHEADED

Manila, Nov. 14.—(P)—The sorry story of the inhuman bayoneting and burning alive of two American airmen was added today to the long list of atrocities charged against Japanese soldiers in the Philippines.

Bodies of the fliers, gunners from a twin-engine plane that crashed off Cebu, were found by an American officer in charge of graves registration, who told the U. S. military commission trying Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita on charges of atrocity.

The officer exhibited pictures of the charred bodies, their hands still tied behind their backs, and said he had found marks at the base of the men's necks where they had been struck by a heavy instrument. A Filipino told him the men had been bayoneted beside a hole, their bodies covered with gasoline and ignited. One man struggled to the edge of the hole, where his pleas for water were met with a deluge of gasoline which Japanese soldiers ignited again.

Yamashita's interpreter told the commission he saw Japanese military policemen behead 26 Filipino men and one woman in forty minutes at a north Manila cemetery. The witness, who worked for the south Manila military police garrison, told of seeing an order to the garrison signed by Yamashita commanding the work and treatment of guerrillas in and around Manila.

The prosecution speedily presented a series of new witnesses who told of other bayonet killings and burning of civilians throughout the archipelago.

Babe Born After Crash Doing Well

Punkstutawney, Nov. 14.—(P)—Mrs. Frank Martz and the baby son born to her after the family car was hit by a train were reported "doing better" today at Adrian hospital.

The child was born a few yards from the hospital to which Frank Martz, a dairyman, and daughter, Mary, 21, were hurrying with Mrs. Martz for the expected new arrival.

The daughter, trapped in the car, died from injuries after workers with acetylene torches released her.

Mrs. Martz suffered fractures of one arm and both legs. The baby, despite an injury near an eye and burns on the side, is expected to live. The father was discharged from the hospital yesterday after treatment of minor injuries.

Hospital attendants said the burns suffered by the infant indicated the birth occurred in the car, which caught fire after the crash. Investigators first thought the mother had been thrown clear of the wreckage.

Congress Will Be Kept In Session

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Senate Majority Leader Barkley said after a White House call today that congress will not adjourn until it completes action on what he called "must" legislation.

Leaving a conference with President Truman in which Senator McKellar, president pro tempore, Speaker Rayburn and House Majority Leader McCormack also participated, Barkley asserted:

"We talked about the legislative program as it related to a possible adjournment. We are not going to adjourn until we are through if it takes up to Christmas."

Barkley described as must legislation bills on:

Full employment, government reorganization, UNRRA funds, appropriations cutbacks, the second war powers act and a pending deficiency appropriation bill.

Both Barkley and Speaker Rayburn said there was no prospect of action before adjournment on a proposal to unify the armed forces and President Truman's universal training request.

Industry Planning to Lay on Line Stand on Every Big Issue Before The Management-Labor Conference

JEWS STRIKE IN PROTEST OF BRITISH PLAN

All Shops, Restaurants, and Factories Closed and Buses and Taxis Stopped

MASS MEETINGS HELD

BULLETIN

Jerusalem, Nov. 14.—(P)—Several hundred Jewish youths stoned bus drivers today in protest against continued operation of their vehicles during a 12-hour general strike called by Jews at noon.

Jerusalem, Nov. 14.—(P)—A 12-hour general Jewish strike in protest to new British proposals for settling the Palestine problem started at noon today without incident.

All Jewish shops, restaurants, work shops and factories were closed and Jewish-operated buses and taxis stopped.

Jewish workers in essential services were requested to continue work in military camps, hospitals, postoffices, telegraph and broadcasting stations as well as at the El Aviv harbor, where the first cargo ship to arrive since 1940 began unloading merchandise.

The people of Palestine eagerly were studying British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin's statement. A number of mass meetings were held in the afternoon.

There was widespread objection throughout Palestine to the statement of British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin that Britain and the United States jointly would attempt to solve the problem; and to his intimation that eventually Palestine would be placed under a trusteeship.

At present, the British aim at present governs Palestine under a League of Nations mandate.

Fleeing Of Veterans Irks Capital Police

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—(P)—The commonwealth and the capital city promised "100 per cent" cooperation today to "stamp out any racket" of fleeing discharged servicemen of their mustering out allowance and other money.

Reports that ex-soldiers flocking through the city with bulging wallets are being robbed while tarrying between trains and buses, evoked a joint statement from Governor Martin and Mayor Howard E. Milliken.

Governor Martin and Mayor Milliken said in a joint statement that "we are advised that similar conditions prevail at separation centers throughout the country," but that "everything possible" will be done to protect servicemen in Pennsylvania.

Every discharged officer and enlisted man is handed from $50 to $75 in cash at the finance pay window as one of the last acts in his separation process, said an officer at Indiantown Gap. Part of that represents the first month's installment of $100 toward his mustering-out pay, with succeeding installments paid by check, mailed directly to his home. In addition, he gets the balance of his pay and allowance and rail fare to his home in another check which is handed to him. This has been instances where the total has amounted to several thousand dollars.

Office Workers To Get Pay Increases

Detroit, Nov. 14.—(A)—General Motors Corp. today announced its approximately 70,000 salaried employees would be given a 10 per cent increase on the first $500 of monthly salary, retroactive to Nov. 1.

The general increase does not apply to senior offices and directors, the announcement said.

C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, said the compensation of salaried employees receiving less than $500 a month "will be reviewed in the light of this general increase and on the basis of their contribution to the success of the business."

The announcement was made as the CIO United Automobile Workers was demanding a 30 per cent wage increase for all hourly-rated employees of General Motors and the other members of the auto industry's "big three"—Chrysler Corp. and the Ford Motor Co.

"Time Has Arrived To Shove Things Along" President Of Manufacturers Group Insists

Washington, Nov. 14.—(P)—Industry plans to lay on the line, today or tomorrow, its stand on every big issue before President Truman's management-labor conference.

As the industrial peace parley entered its tenth day, the management delegation decided, in the words of President Ira Mosher of the National Association of Manufacturers, that the time has come to "shove things along a little."

Almost the entire 18-member industry delegation started work last night on a statement of business' position on collective bargaining, observance of contracts, jurisdictional quarrels and other subjects on the conference agenda.

As they worked, however, one of the nation's most important wage disputes—the CIO demand for a $2 daily wage increase from United States Steel Corporation—came to a new impasse.

The corporation rejected Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach's second appeal that it enter into wage discussions starting today in Washington, with the United Steel Workers of America.

U. S. Steel's president, Benjamin F. Fairless, telegraphed Schwelmbach that further discussions would be fruitless until OPA acts on long-pending requests for steel price increases. The union had accepted the invitation to resume talks.

Fairless told Schwelmbach that "we believe in and strongly support" collective bargaining but "we feel no useful purpose could be served by the proposed meeting."

Schwelmbach had arranged the meeting for today, under a special conciliator, Arthur S. Meyer, of the New York State Mediation Board, after U. S. Steel had declined a similar request for negotiations on the same ground.

In a broadcast interview (AEC) shortly after his final reply to the labor secretary, Fairless contended that negotiations were being "blocked by the union and the government."

He said the union was obstructing peaceful settlement through President Philip Murray's declaration, in a meeting last month, that the union's demand was "not subject to dickering or compromise." Fairless added that the government was blocking an agreement by OPA's tardiness in giving price relief when many steel products were selling at less than cost.

Fairless said the requested wage increase would cost the steel industry "at least $225,000,000 a year" and added this was more than all steel companies now are earning.

He explained the company's refusal to follow President Truman's suggestion that business grant wage increases and then apply, six months later, for price increases if necessary, with these words: "We would simply have to sell many steel products at a greater loss—we can't pay wage increases out of thin air."

Reds Destroying Chinese Railroads

Chungking, Nov. 14.—(P)—Chinese Communists have destroyed one-tenth of all China's railways—approximately 875 miles of track—causing "widespread dislocation" of the country's transportation network, Cabinet Spokesman P. H. Chang asserted today.

He said, however, that trains still were running on the Peiping-Mukden railroad between Peiping and the North China seaport of Chinwangtao, coal-loading point guarded by U. S. Marines.

Tatung-Puchow and Peiping-Suiyuan railroads, linking China with inner Mongolia, are "almost entirely inoperative," he reported.

SS is the Canton-Hankow line in South China between Kungling in Kwangtung province and Leiyang in Hunan province, he added.

Breaks also were acknowledged on the Lunghai railroad in north-central China near Chengchow and Tungkuang.

Bomb Talks Await Russian Reaction

Washington, Nov. 14.—(A)—Allied officials involved in the atomic bomb talks here indicated today they are largely concerned now about Russia's reaction to the forthcoming Anglo-American Canadian proposal for controlling atomic force.

There is a strong feeling evident on the part of some that this is one of the climatic weeks of history. Decisions now being whipped into shape will influence vitally the future of Anglo-American relations with Russia. These relations are the core of United Nations plans for policing world peace.

Evidence recently available from British authorities is that President Truman, Prime Minister Attlee and Prime Minister MacKenzie King of Canada will seek particularly in their communiqué on plans for international atomic controls to reassure Russia. This may be done by offering to share scientific knowledge of atomic power fully with the Soviet Union and other countries.

Another session was set for 2:30 p. m. today.

PENNSY DIVIDEND

Philadelphia, Nov. 14.—(P)—The board of directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad today declared a dividend of $1.50 per share on capital stock, payable on and after December 13, 1945, to stockholders of record at the close of business November 24, 1945.

NEW IMPASSE IN U. S. STEEL NEGOTIATIONS

Labor Secretary Advised That Further Discussions Must Await Action Of O.P.A.

270,000 ARE STILL IDLE

By the Associated Press

The wage dispute between the United States Steel Corporation and the CIO United States Steel Workers came to a new impasse today as the company rejected Secretary of Labor Schwelmbach's second appeal to resume negotiations with the union.

The union, which is demanding a $2 a day wage increase from the company and plans strike votes among some 500,000 workers within three weeks, had accepted Schwelmbach's invitation to meet with a special government conciliator in Washington today.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of "Big Steel," however, advised the labor secretary that further discussions would be fruitless until OPA acts on long-pending requests for increases in steel prices. "We believe in and strongly support" collective bargaining, Fairless told Schwelmbach, but "we feel no useful purpose could be served by the proposed meeting."

Elsewhere along the labor front, continuing labor disputes kept idle about 270,000 workers.

In San Francisco, negotiations in the strike of 12,000 CIO and AFL Machinists over a wage dispute, appeared deadlocked, keeping an additional 55,000 workers away from their jobs in scores of industries.

"No progress" was reported in the meeting in Philadelphia between labor and management called in an effort to effect a settlement in the strike of some 4,000 (Turn to Page Seven)

Erie County Murder Trial Opens Today

Erie, Nov. 14.—(P)—The murder trial of Frank L. Bromley, Jr., 23, of Corry, for the three-year-old "Lover's Lane" slaying of Chief Petty Officer Leonard Wilkinson opened today in District Attorney Burton R. Laub's court.

Laub has said he would seek the death penalty.

Wilkinson, a resident of near Harbor Creek, was fatally shot as he sat in an automobile on a lonely road near North East on Good Friday in 1942. The case baffled police until the arrest of Bromley last March.

The prosecution disclosed the state has summoned more than 80 witnesses in an attempt to build up a chain of circumstantial evidence. Chief witness will be Mrs. Ruby Eastman Stetson, who was in Wilkinson's car at the time of the shooting.

When the case was called today, Defense Attorney Paul Stephany and Jesse Juillante moved for postponement of the trial until January on grounds that Laub was elected county judge last week and the jury "ought to be prejudiced in thinking that a judge was prosecuting the case."

Judge J. Orin Waite denied the motion and the selection of jurors commenced. One juror, Mrs. Carl Heigel of Erie, was chosen during the morning session of court.

Laub claimed at the time of Bromley's arrest that he had told another inmate in Western Penitentiary that he had "something to do" with the Wilkinson slaying. Bromley was serving a sentence for rape of an elderly woman.

Two More Band Outfits Are Secured For Nov. 24 Parade

Two more musical organizations have signified their intention of participating in the Victory Bond parade to be held in Warren on Saturday, November 24. The Russell High School Band, an organization of about thirty instruments, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Titchner, will feature Miss Marjorie Ramsdell, a drum major with several years experience in theatrical work, which including a balancing act.

From Johnsburg, the Central Fire Hose Company, under Chief L. C. McAfee, will come a forty-piece drum corps, together with a uniformed marching drill team of about the same number. This unit has not appeared in Warren before and promises to be one of the outstanding attractions of the parade.

Negotiations are under way for the services of the Ridgway High School Band, with hopes of being successful. Mr. Nelson, superintendent of the Ridgway schools, was born in Warren and is very much interested in helping to make the event successful. His high school band is one of the best in this section, and if they come they will lead the parade on this occasion.

Amsterdam Youth Picked Up By Police At Local Hotel

Officers on patrol last night noticed a car being driven by a most youthful looking driver and placed it under observation. Later the driver registered at a local hotel and the officers set out to trace the car. It was found parked at the foot of Market street. Examination showed that one of the rear lights had been moved so that a portion of the license plate was obscured. Suspicious aroused the officers and went to the hotel and going to the lad's room questioned him.

The lad said his name was Lewis Russell Tryon, 16 1/2 years of age and that his home was in Amsterdam, N. Y. He had registered under another name claiming that a friend of his told him never to register at a hotel with his correct name.

Officers then took the boy to Police Headquarters where he was questioned again. He said his mother was dead and his father was remarried and that he was driving the car of a friend, but without the friend's permission. Tryon claimed to have been in Akron, Ohio to visit his grandparents but could not find them and was on his way back home. His

Schedule For Education Is Well Arranged

A complete schedule has been worked out by Warren public schools for the observance of American Education Week November 11-17, when parents and other school friends are cordially invited to visit the various buildings and share in what the students do during their school hours.

Today is visiting day at the Seneca building and this evening a Parents Night will be observed at the high school.

At the Johnson school, teachers will hold open house from seven until eight o'clock Thursday evening, and at eight o'clock parents and friends will be privileged to enjoy the pupils' regular Thursday movie.

Thursday is also listed as visiting day at the McClintock and South street buildings, where teachers extending the same invitation to all parents and friends to view the students at work.

Concluding, Beaty school will present its special Education Week program on Friday evening, details to be announced later.

Sure Fire Hit Is Booked For Outing Club

If you find Frank Williams, bookie of entertainment at the Marconi Outing Club, singing in the rain it's all because he has hit the jackpot in his bill for the club over this weekend. Don Carlo, Pittsburgh agent of Mr. Williams last night fairly exploded over the news that Hadd and Denton, black and tan pair will head the bill. They are burnt cork entertainers and have one of the big hit acts of the Pittsburgh area. Club after club has hailed them as top-notchers or laugh provokers.

Sandy Lyle, juggler, who has been working on the night club floors all over eastern Ohio and Western Pennsylvania and he will also be on the bill and pretty, curvaceous Patty Moore, an acrobatic gal with snake hips and no joints will round out the program and how she rounds! Her dancing is the sort folks will talk about for days.

Bond Sales to Employees Continues Light

With the first returns complete from all county industries having a Pay Roll Savings quota, Victory Bond sales among employees are not showing the increase needed to make the drive a success. If quotas are to be reached, everyone must buy his share of Victory Bonds. According to reports received by E. V. Harold D. Jaquith, 35, Columbus resident is under $2,000 property bail at Lakewood, N. Y., after admitting that he did "not see a stop sign" at the intersection of Sugar Grove road and Baker St. extension near the Big Tree Monday. He is charged with criminal negligence in the death of Mrs. Winifred Covey, 32, of Watts Flats and the injury of three others in a crash that followed with another car at the intersection. Jaquith was arrested following the fatal crash by Chief of Police Max Elmke, of Lakewood and was arraigned at 7:30 before Justice of the Peace Robert Booty at the Lakewood Town Hall. Assistant District Attorney Sidney T. Mrs. Covey is believed to have died instantly of a fractured skull, according to the coroner.

The fatal crash, which occurred at 3:50 p. m. as the Jaquith car headed north on the Sugar Grove Road, and the Fuller machine was moving west, sent both vehicles into a 16-foot deep ditch. Mrs. Covey was thrown into the bushes.

Movies Will Be Shown At Round Table

Leroy W. Tunstall, assistant Scoutmaster of the First Lutheran church Troop 2, will show movies at the Scouters' Round Table when the group assembles in Room 201 Warren National Bank building Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock, it was learned this morning from R. L. Endress, field Scout commissioner. The title of the movies will be "Bird Neighbors—Summer and Winter" and is a film from the Audubon Society.

Other Scout leaders who will share in the presentation of the program according to Mr. Endress, will be S. E. Saylor, Cubmaster of Pack 2 who will review the latest number of Scouting magazine and the Cub Leaders Round Table magazine, Leo L. Gleese, Scout Commissioner, who will present the business of the evening.

H. D. Baker, chairman of the YMCA Troop 7 Committee and other members of his committee will have charge of the fellowship and refreshment period at the close of the meeting.

The round table is a regular monthly feature of the council's program, designed to provide a period of fellowship, instruction and an opportunity for Scout Leaders and Cub Leaders to confer with each other in some of the best ways of bringing the Scouting and Cubbing program to their boys. It is expected that a large sized group will be present at tomorrow night's meeting.

Taylor Car Is Located In Jamestown

The Ford automobile stolen Sunday while its owner Benj. Taylor was at dinner in the Carver House was recovered yesterday at Jamestown. Officers went to Jamestown last evening and returned the car to its city. It was undamaged.

One drunk who had a most pugnacious streak and who endeavored to engage in arguments and brawls with persons near the bus company garage was locked up last night. This morning in a contrite mood he met with Justice Tracy Greenlund.

Mrs. John Rhodberger, 25 Jefferson street reported to police last evening that she had fallen in a hole near the Smith Drug store and sprained an ankle. Police investigated and found the hole between the sidewalk and curb. Street department employees will fill the hole.

A bunch of hoodlums last night visited the home of Frank Moore, 109 Irvine street and created much work for the owner of the property. Mr. Moore had a large number of river-hed boulders around the edge of his lawn and driveway and the miscreants threw these into the street and onto the lawn. Many of the stones weighed 35 or 40 pounds. One auto driver struck one of the stones that lay in the street. Police are investigating and when arrests are made the parents will be held responsible.

Employers Are Asked To Give Lists of Jobs

Increasing numbers of highly-skilled industrial and professional workers, some with rare abilities and unusual experience backgrounds, are seeking employment today at the United States Employment Service office, Mr. Levine, manager, revealed today.
Manager Levine appealed to Warren employers to list all types of job openings with the USES office stating the "young men and women returning from serving their country, and skilled workers displaced by reconversion cutbacks deserve the best their community can offer them in job opportunities."
"The only jobs that the United States Employment Service can offer applicants are the jobs which employers have listed with us," Manager Levine said. "Unless all employers keep the local office advised of the openings they have

The Fourth Mrs. Baker By Ernestine Adams AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 1 [Saturday 5:30 p.m. to 6:05 p.m.]

THE uneasiness that had developed in the five weeks of her marriage possessed Julia now unchecked. She gave up trying to read the book she held and tried to discover what, actually, was at the bottom of the trouble.

Robey's attitude toward her since their marriage had been alternately indifference and fierce jealousy. It was a shock at first because she had thought he was in love with her. Her belief in his devotion and her deep obligation to him had made her consent to his fervent proposals although she had told him frankly she did not love him. Now his jealous tantrums and suspicions were becoming more frequent while, paradoxically, he showed at times a real dislike for her. It was not the fiery hate of a lover but a cold enmity. But he didn't want her to leave him. Her offer had brought on one of his worst rages.

She saw him as an image reflected in a pool, sometimes still and clear and sharp and again vague and badly distorted by a light ripple on the surface. That was the trouble, she thought, the odd things were small and she magnified them. In a strange situation and among people she knew hardly at all, her viewpoint was out of focus. It didn't mean Robey was unbalanced just because he craved a spotlight on and off the stage. That was natural for an actor. And she could never forget he had saved her life.

The speculative way he had gazed at her last night intruded on this logic and she shuddered. Some one—Jerry Hayes, she thought—had said that the love birds—meaning Robey and she—were going to be forgotten by the mass if something new didn't happen. That the public was tired of devotion stories.

Robey's look had frightened her. His large light blue eyes had stared blankly and she felt his thoughts racing madly behind them as if he plotted a new headline and it didn't matter whether it was pleasant or not, it must be big. She had already learned that his idolatry of the press blinded him to any consequences of his plans if they achieved their purpose of putting him before the public.

The entrance of Moore into the library gave her a start.

"Mr. Harman is here, madam," he said. He was a tightly built, stocky man, about forty-five, with luxuriant growth of hair that made his head seem disproportionately large. His features were small and converged in the center of his fleshy face. He was far too exotic looking to make a comfortable servant. He had once been a juggler on the same vaudeville circuit that Robey had traveled before fame had tossed him into stardom. Moore treated his new mistress in a knowing, superior manner that was irritating.

currently and in prospect, the veteran cannot obtain the maximum job opportunity which Congress has said should be given the men and women who have served their country in the armed forces. Employers should list with the USES the best opportunities they have as well as the general run of job openings. This will have a twofold effect. It will help the employer because the best equipped applicants will ask for referrals to his firm and this will give him a wider choice. It will help the applicants because it will give them a chance at the best jobs open in the community."

Columbia gained her independence from Spain in 1819.

He stood there for a moment while his eyes went over her impersonally.

ing but not definite enough to protest. She was ill at ease around him and avoided him if possible. "I put him in the salon since you were in here, madam." "All right," said Julia, feeling young and awkward. The use of the word "salon" had seemed strained to her at first but it had a dramatic quality which Robey liked.

ACROSS the hall she entered the spacious drawing room, her head high, and Frank Harman turned from a cocktail table on the opposite side of the room. The globe that fitted into the black plastic stop so that half of it was above the table, was spinning slowly. He extended both hands silently and she put hers into them. She saw that this was the entrance his dramatic sense called for at the moment and she followed his cue. He was tall with an egg shaped head that tapered into a narrow mouth and pointed chin. There were gray hairs in the silky dark hair. These and the lines around his deep set hazel eyes made him appear older than his thirty-four years. The dark suit he wore was artfully tailored to make his shoulders broad. That he had a brilliant mind, Julia did not doubt. All of the plays which he and Robey had written and produced had had at least some mark of success. But she felt he had a somewhat precious charm which he portioned out by some secret standard of his own, weighing it meticulously as he dispensed it.

He stood there for a moment while his eyes went over her impersonally. She loosened her hands. "Did you come from the matinee?" He did not answer her but said in a smooth monotone, "As usual, you bowl me over. No one in this age has been so exquisitely beautiful. Low, wide forehead. Maybe too wide for classic dimensions but it makes you more interesting. You aren't a standard of loveliness but the quintessence of beauty itself. Glorious dark tresses like a black waterfall—eyes like melted sapphires—"

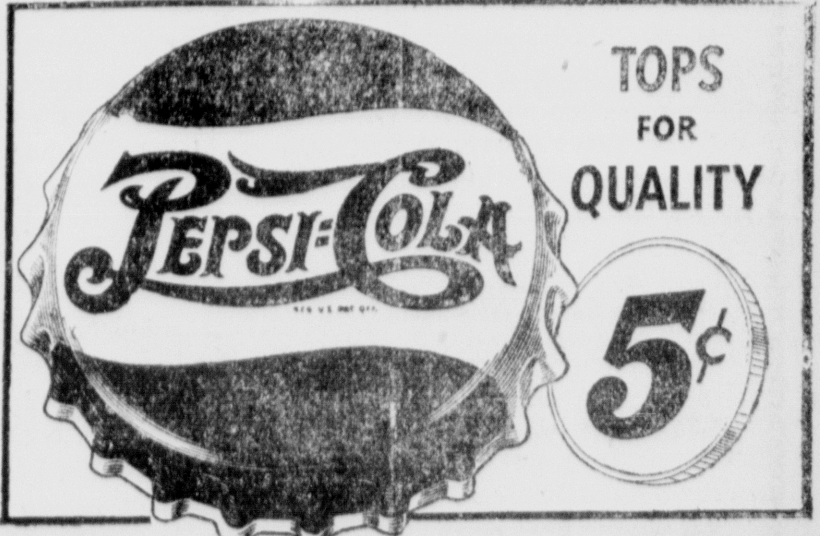

"You should put that in a play," Frank broke in. He dropped the role of admirer instantly. "I saw Grace at the theatre." A cold chill circled her. Frank was trying to tell her something—something unpleasant. Grace had been Robey's wife before Julia. She had dragged him through a scandalous divorce which he had at first contested, then had suddenly capitulated, allowing her a large alimony. She was an exciting looking woman with reckless brown eyes and hair that was now dramatically platinum. Julia had met her at a night club and had recoiled from the unleashed spirit of the woman before she had known that Grace was an avowed enemy. "Robey invited her here to-night and she's coming," Frank went on and his eyes went back to the globe in the cocktail table. "Alma is coming, too, Grace said," he finished and seemed relieved that the words were out. Julia's heart pounded. Alma was Robey's first wife whom she had never seen. So she had been right. Robey planned something and his plans were always for a spectacular display.

"GIFTS FOR THE YANKS"

The "Gifts for the Yanks" program started last year is again inaugurated nationally by the American Legion and Auxiliaries, and the Chief Cornplanter Post of this city has requested Warren retailers to:

- Set up receiving stations for the gifts;
- Arrange special displays of suggested items;
- Publicize their own participation in the program.

The Legion committee will provide display posters, newspaper publicity and the necessary work in collecting, packing and shipping the gifts to the distributor centers.

Suggested gifts include books, things to wear, smoker's items, toiletries, stationery, notions—in fact, everything but war stories or perishable food stuffs.

The program is being boosted again this year by Eddie Cantor.

Packages go to every hospital throughout the world where there is a disabled serviceman or woman.

Individual donor's card may be enclosed in the package given.

A campaign is now under way to secure the cooperation of local stores, and it is anticipated that the same whole-hearted support will be given the project as that which made the campaign so successful a year ago.

EATING POULTRY FOR STEADY NERVES

Do you have postwar jitters?

Paul H. Margolf, Pennsylvania State College poultry expert, advises reaching for a leg of chicken or a turkey wing.

He says eating either is good for the nerves.

"Poultry," he explains, "is easier to digest and richer nutritionally than most other foods. Turkey and chicken have both proved helpful in restoring good health to battle-weary veterans."

Traditionally a holiday food, poultry is finally coming into its own as a standard part of the everyday American diet, according to the Penn State specialist.

Meat rationing, plus heavy consumption of poultry by members of the armed services, has cultivated the habit on a large scale, and Margolf thinks the public will go right on eating poultry.

This year's poultry crop, he says, will easily meet consumer demands. Roasting chickens may be a little short, he adds, but there'll be plenty of broilers and fryers.

ANOTHER HITLER ERROR

It has been noted already that Hitler might have had the atom bomb himself if his persecution of the Jews hadn't driven the eminent physicist Lise Meitner from Germany and permitted her to make her pioneering work available to the Allies.

Now it develops that the eight Nazi saboteurs who landed here in 1942 might have got in a lot of damaging dirty work if one of them, angered by the Gestapo's brutal treatment of his wife, hadn't turned informer.

Crime, as the man on the radio keeps telling us, doesn't pay. And fortunately for the world, Hitler apparently didn't listen to American broadcasts.

With over 100 requests made for the list of rooms available for hunters, the Chamber of Commerce feels that the Warren County Playground idea is worth promoting. If private capital will only build camps and cottages for summer and hunting season use, there is no reason why hundreds of visitors cannot be attracted to this county.

State Senator L. E. Chapman must feel proud of his efforts to rouse the people of this state to the ravages of cancer. More and more interest is being shown every day and Temple University is the last to receive a big gift for research work. Starting such a ball rolling is the crowning achievement of a lifetime of service to mankind on the part of the genial doctor.

With State funds soon to be released for the improvement of State Hospitals, here's hoping that the program at the Warren institution is carried out as recommended by Superintendent Israel some months ago. The model hospital of the state should be kept in that enviable condition.

Now that the war is over, isn't it about time to build that addition the Court House needed so badly only a few short months ago? For Heaven's sake, build it big enough this time!

With wet, slippery roads and worn tires, motorists will do well to drive carefully these fall days.

Major Pratt Gave Address To Teachers

The Warren Borough Teachers' Association held its November meeting at the high school Tuesday evening. After the regular business meeting, Dr. William Pratt, of Pennsylvania State College, spoke to the group about some of his experiences in Italy during the American fighting and occupation of that country. Major Pratt was with the allied military government there.

Dr. Pratt, a former superintendent of the Erie county schools president of Mansfield Normal school, was in the education system of Italy both before and after the war. He especially emphasized four points in his talk.

First, "As the schools go, so goes the nation." Mussolini did many constructive things for Italy, but early in his career he took control of the public school system. Fascism and militarism were taught from the first grade up, but he made one mistake, he instilled the idea of Fascism, but failed to imbue them with the ideals of Fascism.

His second point was that educated folks have an idea of freedom as it should be. For this reason the revolts in different countries seem to arise from the university groups and school groups. It was these groups who showed a willingness to help restore order out of chaos. They seemed eager to do this as they were to stand up for their beliefs.

His third point was that the schools made a great contribution to the war as any of the industries and that not enough credit has been given our schools and their product. He said that our forces overseas were outstanding in their efforts and resourcefulness.

His fourth and last point was in regard to the returning veterans. He feared that our idea of Democracy and our ideals of Democracy were two different things; that the boys would be disappointed in finding that what they had fought for wasn't really here.

Tidioute DAR Anniversary Recalls Interesting Earlier Events --- Names

The Tidioute chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, fittingly observed the 45th anniversary of its organization, Thursday evening, Nov. 8, which proved to be one of the most delightful events in the history of the chapter. At 7 o'clock a fine dinner was served at the Blue and White dining room at Tidioute with tables appropriately decorated, a beautiful birthday cake containing 45 small candles in evidence and each honor guest and chapter officer the recipient of a corsage bouquet.

Among the honor guests were Mrs. Benjamin Ramage Williams of Butler, state regent; Mrs. E. S. McAlevy, Oil City, state librarian; Mrs. Warren Ross Carlin, Warren, state secretary of conservation, and the following guests of neighboring chapters: Mrs. Ray C. McKett, Mrs. Fred C. Eaton, Miss Harriet B. Eaton, Mrs. O. H. Baird, regent of the Gen. Joseph Warren chapter, Miss Inez Brownell, all of Warren; Mrs. Ira D. Stover, regent of Putnam-King chapter, Oil City; Mrs. Frank Hildebrand, Butler, and Mrs. S. F. Marks, Saltsburg, Pa. As the guests of honor were presented by the regent of the Tidioute chapter, Mrs. Harold Roe Hawkey, each responded with a few words of greeting. The benediction was pronounced by Mrs. F. R. Klinefister of Tionesta.

At the close of the dinner the happy, patriotic company adjourned to the home of Miss Martha Jennings, who with her sister, Mrs. Harry Jennings, proved a delightful hostess and the house a fit setting for a historical meeting since it is the oldest frame dwelling house in that section of the Allegheny valley, having been built by Thomas Arters in 1824 and purchased by the late Harry Jennings and his sister, Martha, who rebuilt the interior similar to a colonial mansion house. Here a most delightful evening was spent, the most outstanding features being the group singing opened with "My Pennsylvania" by Dr. Nancy Morrow and short speeches by Mrs. Warren Ross Carlin of Warren, Mrs. Benjamin Ramage Williams, state regent, of Butler, and others, including the fine "History of the Tidioute Chapter," by Mrs. Abigail Cummings Hawkey, daughter of the honored founder of the chapter, Mrs. Charlotte J. Sink Cummings, wife of the late Hon. H. H. Cummings, one of the prosperous oil producers of his day, and one of the most beloved men of the time. Contributing much to the program were two piano solos played by Mrs. Charlotte Rosequist.

The reporter regrets that space will not permit even a resume of the history, prepared so carefully. But it is interesting to have brought to one's attention that group of interested descendants of the "Old Continentals," who met with Mrs. Cummings and her two daughters, Mrs. Harriet Cummings Ellis and Miss Laura F. Cummings (Mrs. A. B. White), Mrs. Bertha Pierce Cummings, Mrs. Nancy A. Magee Nabie, Miss Mary Louise Magee (Mrs. Margaret R. M. Hunter (Mrs. Jahu, Sr.) Mrs. Jahu Young Barnes, Mrs. Harriet Curtis Shaw, Miss Clara Carter Siggins, Miss Alice Nell Siggins, Miss Georgianna Siggins and Mrs. Lucinda M. H. Turner, who comprised the roll of charter members. Of these but two remain: Mrs. White and Miss Alice Siggins, who was but a young woman at the time.

Mrs. Cummings was a born leader, wise, diplomatic, loyal and a hard worker, so that in 12 years the chapter numbered 150, including outstanding workers in various communities such as Mrs. S. E. Walker, Mrs. Willis Cowan, Mrs. W. J. Mead, Mrs. Henry Ridelberger and others of Warren; Mrs. L. L. Hunter, Mrs. S. F. Marks, Mrs. E. B. Grandin and many others of Tidioute; Mrs. W. O. Fuellhart and Mrs. George Warden of Endeavor; Mrs. Orion Siggins and Mrs. W. J. Leonard, West Hickory; Mrs. L. J. Hopkins, Mrs. A. B. Kelly, Mrs. S. M. Sharpe, and Mrs. G. F. Watson, Tionesta. Finally at a meeting of the chapter at the Conewango club at Warren, Feb. 22, 1911, transfers were granted 40 members in Warren who organized the Gen. Joseph Warren chapter.

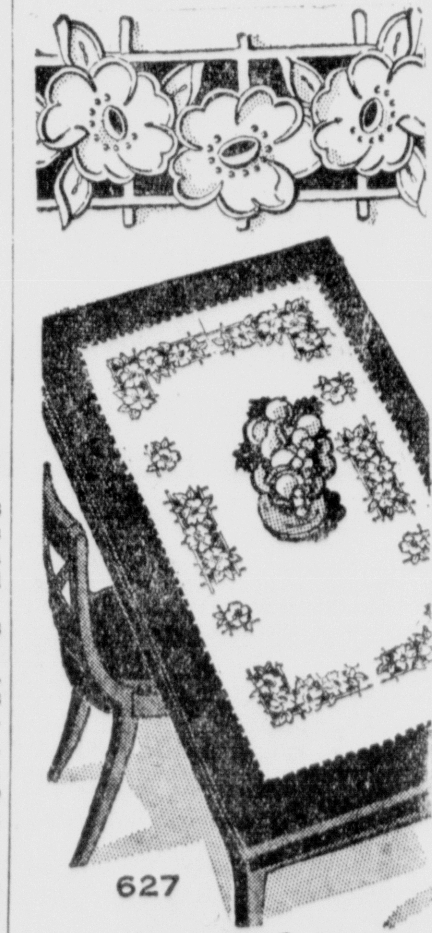

The Tidioute chapter continued to grow steadily. "The meetings were elaborate and always charming," but the D. A. R. work was never neglected. Tidioute chapters have always done its part. No doubt the most outstanding work of the chapter was the erection of the monument of Gen. Joseph Warren who was killed at the battle of Bunker Hill and for whom the county of Warren was named. It was a tremendous undertaking to erect a finished granite monument with a bronze figure of Gen. Warren on it, in addition to the tablet containing the names of all Revolutionary soldiers buried in Warren county. But Mrs. Cummings knew no such word as fail and said, "We want every man, woman and child in Warren county to have a part in this monument, and to feel when they go to Warren and see it there that they too have given their bit to honor the memory of Revolutionary soldiers buried in the county." Tag days were established for school children and the evenings of May 7 and 8, 1919, were thrilling moments for the present regent of the Tidioute chapter as she, as a child, listened to the reports which came over the phone from Corydon, Kinzua, Sheffield, Warren, Youngsville and elsewhere. Every town and hamlet contributed to the fund and citizens throughout the county most generously as well as Hon. N. P. Wheeler and Hon. Joseph Sibley of Forest and Venango counties. That same winter the Continental Congress, D. A. R. endorsed Mrs. Cummings for state regent of Pennsylvania. While she was state regent she organized Putnam-King chapter of Oil City.

Mrs. Cummings' successor as regent was Mrs. Lillian Acomb Hunter who later became treasurer, general secretary, following Mrs. Hunter was Mrs. Orion Siggins of West Hickory and next Mrs. S. F. Marks. Others who have served as regent are Mrs. Vernah Watson Shewman Stitzinger, Mrs. Marion Carringer and Mrs. Harold Roe Hawkey—two terms. —N. M.

Many Will Benefit

While there are still some scattered reports to be turned in, it is learned from officers of the Warren Branch, Needlework Guild of America, that this year's in-gathering, the 60th in the history of national organization, brought in more than 1,500 garments and items of wearing apparel which will go to the needy of Warren county. Those who visited the Woman's Club on November 2, occasion of the garment display and tea held by the local branch, were gratified with the showing made by the 43 directors. More cash gifts were received this year, despite continued shortages in many lines of wearing apparel. There were more sweaters, suits and other items for the school-age child, together with a very good showing for the infants' wear section, a department of which the Visiting and State Nurses had made particular requests. The collection has shown a steady increase in the past few years, reaching its highest figure of 1,623 in 1943. The year before that the total was 2,376, and in 1944, 1,540. The items collected by the Guild are distributed among the Visiting Nurses, Warren Relief Association, the Children's Aid Society and as special gifts to the Children's Home. As has been their custom for several years, Girl Scouts of the town and county made garments and items for the collection and Boy Scouts offered their assistance in distribution of the articles. Members of the Warren Business and Professional Women's Club, while not attaining their 100 per cent goal this year, turned in 119 items and cash amounting to $4.

SPORTS ACROSS PENNSYLVANIA

By Tom Shriver

Harrisburg, Nov. 14.—(P)—The Harrisburg Lions club claimed a record for yardage gained on the part of its "players of the week."

The Lions named Dick Lockhart of William Penn High as their first "player of the week." He intercepted a pass and ran 90 yards. Then Bob Cordier of William Penn was honored. He grabbed a pass and ran 101 yards. Finally the club has paid tribute to George Taleff of Steelton. He ran 102 yards against Shamokin.

The club will select ten players during the season. One of the ten will receive the Noble Frank Memorial Trophy in honor of the late captain of the first University of Pittsburgh eleven that Jack Sutherland coached.

Lions in Spotlight

Two other Lions Clubs are grabbing a share of the football spotlight. In both cases for worthy causes.

The Erie Lions will stage their seventh annual "Save

An Eye" football game on Nov. 23, with all proceeds going to provide glasses for worthy Erie County recipients. The idea of the game started in the sports department of the Erie Dispatch Herald.

Inspired by the success of the "Save An Eye" game, the Lions Club of Oil City borrowed the pattern and will stage a game on Friday, Nov. 16. The players will come from Shenango Valley and the Upper Allegheny Valley. Most of the stars in Northwest Pennsylvania will take part in the game.

Julian Moves Up

Most scholastic grid followers knew Al "Doggie" Julian when he coached Muhlenberg. He put the Mules in the big time in basketball. Then he went to Holy Cross as assistant grid coach and head basketball coach. Now comes word that John "Ox" DeGross will quit as head football coach. And the job will go to Julian.

Another For Pflug

When Bradford High wound up its grid season by joining Erie Academy, 20-13, it marked another triumph for Bob Pflug. The Owl coach has watched his grid teams win 58 games in a span of 14 years. It was the tenth win over an Erie school in 14 starts.

A Nifty Harrier

Turning from football it might be timely to toss a few bouquets to Charles "Chuck" Himes. He is a cross country runner at Meadville. And has already set three course records in winning at various distances. Now he goes to State College on Saturday for the annual PIAA cross country meet.

Large Crowd Expected At Benefit Game

Over 5000 fans are expected to take in the "Fight for Sight" benefit game, sponsored by the Oil City Lions Club, Friday night at Oil City between the Allegheny Valley all-stars and the Shenango Valley all-stars. ## 18 Gridsters Will Receive Sweaters, 'W'

J. B. Leidig, High School athletic director, announced this morning that 18 players on the 1945 League football squad will be eligible to receive sweaters and "W's", the usual awards made to all outstanding players and managers.

Sixteen of the group will receive both the sweater and letter, while Robert Gerardi and Jim Sealize, previously awarded a sweater, will receive letters only. The presentations will be made at an assembly in the High School at a later date. Four of those receiving awards will return to the fold next season. They are Don Duckett, Dave Lopez, Frank Shanshala, and Ed Wollaston, all juniors.

Can a Pro Team Beat Army? Neale Says Yes and Owen No

By GAYLE TALEOT

New York, Nov. 14.—(P)—Stout Steve Owen of the New York football Giants can expect to have his previous high standing among the professional gridironers seriously impaired if he doesn't cease and desist from raving about Army's football team.

The Giants' mentor is flouting one of the oldest rules and traditions of the play-for-pay circuit by refusing to say that any team in the National Professional League could lick Army or any other college outfit three times in an afternoon if the light held out.

"I'm simply not going to say one way or another," he replied firmly when asked how he thought the Cadets' unbeaten eleven would fare against one of the good professional clubs.

"It's one of the greatest football teams I ever saw," he said. "I've seen two such backs as Glenn and Doc Blanchard in the same backfield, and that big, swift line of theirs is nothing short of wonderful."

"It would be difficult to think back to a college team that might have played on even terms."

"Look," he said seriously, "carrying the ball in the pro game is no different from carrying it in college. Stars like Davis and Blanchard, given a line in front of them, can run anywhere."

While Owen, at least, sounded like he would give the Cadets a whole of a chance against a pro team, three other coaches of professional clubs said:

"Any of the big pro teams could beat Army. It would be one hell of a game, but we'd win. I don't want to take anything away from Army's great backs, but we have some too, and we have some All-Americans in the line," said "Greasy" Neale, Philadelphia Eagles.

"I don't very much like Army, as good as it is, could beat a pro team. Like a good amateur boxer fighting a professional, the professional is too ringwise," said DeGroot, Washington Redskins.

"I've been in college football 20 years and only one year in pro ball, but personally I believe a top-flight pro club can beat a top-flight college team any day," said Adam Walsh, Cleveland Rams.

Bowl Broadcasts Are Shaping Up

New York, Nov. 14.—(P)—Already the lineup of the annual Bowl football broadcasts that start off the New Year are shaping up.

For instance, NBC will be back in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif.

CBS and Ted Husing will do their usual from the Orange Bowl at Miami, while ABC will return to the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans. MBS hasn't announced its plans as yet, but it generally does two games, the Cotton Bowl at Dallas followed by the East-West at San Francisco.

BOWLING

CONEWAGO LEAGUE
Spechts dumped McClure's Mounties deeper into last place last night in the Conewago league, administering to them a four-point defeat. The win, however, sends Spechts hot on the trail of third place McComas.

Fritz Kleschauer continued to lead the winners by recording a 209 single and a 562 total, and for the losers, Otterbein turned in a 222 single and a 549 three-game count.

McClure's ..... 821 829 791—2441

ATTENTION ALL BOWLING ALLEYS
Once again we must remind you that bowling scores must be sent to the Times-Mirror as soon after the match as possible and with complete information attached. When sending in your scores, be sure to have where the matches were played. Thus far this season the Elk League has been most delinquent in this report. Get on your toes, Brownie! And fill them in so that there will be no difficulty in figuring them out!

Cast Announced For Children's Book Week Play

The cast for the children's play, Alice in Wonderland, was announced today. Boys and girls who will take part in the choral reading for Sunday's radio drama will be listed in tomorrow's Times-Mirror.

Sally Nelson, nine year old student at Seneca School, has been selected to play the role of Alice. Other principals will be as follows: Mabel Morse, the Red Queen; Jimmy Valone, the White Rabbit; Forrest Campbell, the March Hare; Ward Price, the Dormouse; Mike D'Angelo, the Mad Hatter; Robert Cowden, the Mock Turtle; Jimmy Henderson, the Cheshire Cat; Joe Mangano, the Caterpillar; Johan Stohl, the Gryphon; Jordan Overturf, Jr., the King.

Over 150 boys and girls attended tryouts, which indicates the extent of interest in children's dramatics. This is the second year that a children's radio play has been one of the community features of the National Book Week and American Education Week celebration in Warren. This year the play will be presented on the Sunday afternoon series, sponsored by the Metzger-Wright Company, as the final event of the week.

List of Jap Atrocities Is Increasing

One woman, whose husband had his tongue cut out by the Japanese, was intercepted before the court room and found in a routine search to be carrying two rocks in her purse. Asked what they were for, she said: "To throw at dogs."

This woman and a 16-year-old girl told of being raped at Tachuan, Batangas province, by Japanese who killed 500 civilians on or about February 10 of this year. Sister Mary Trinitas of the Maryknoll Order related details of killings at Fort Santiago, where some civilians were tied in corridors "in positions similar to Christ on the cross."

Control of Japan Causes Deadlock

Washington, Nov. 14—(P)—Secretary of State Byrnes disclosed today that the United States and Russia are still deadlocked over Soviet demands for the establishment of an Allied Control Council for Japan.

Russia, he said, is insisting upon a unanimity rule in the council similar to the one under which the Control Council in Berlin functions. Byrnes contended that the rule is responsible for failure of the Berlin group to accomplish many things that should have been done in Germany under the Potsdam agreement.

The United States is holding out for a council in which Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Allied commander in Japan, would have a decisive voice in case of disagreement.

November House-of-Month Is Designed For Expansion

Expansion is the keynote in "The Wayne", offered as the Warren National Bank House-of-the-Month for November. The first floor offers a five-room layout complete with both living and sleeping quarters. The second floor may be left unfinished, and, as the need manifests itself, be completed to add two bedrooms and an extra bath.

The wood-burning fireplace and a built-in book case create a cozy corner. In the square dining room, French windows which overlook the rear garden are flanked by corner cupboards. The well planned kitchen, fitted with modern sliding door, is expertly planned to facilitate work. The service entrance permits direct access to the partial basement which is located under the living room, dining room and kitchen. The sleeping quarters form a full wing containing two bedrooms each enjoying cross ventilation and ample wall space for arrangement of furniture. The larger, on the street side, is equipped with twin closets while the other bedroom has its own extra large closet. Separating these rooms is the bath with adjacent linen closet. The second floor provides for two additional bedrooms, larger than those on the main floor, each with three windows and an unusually large closet. The extra bath with another linen closet in the hall completes this upper floor plan which may be finished any time the owner desires. When this is done, one of the bedrooms on the lower floor might very easily be converted into a den, library, or perhaps be used as a maid's room. Above the front bedroom and porch is an attic that can be used for general storage. Door to this space is in bedroom No. 4. Measuring thirty-five feet in width, The Wayne extends to a depth of thirty-seven feet and is designed to comply with the standards and construction requirements of the FHA with the electrical wiring checked and approved by the National Adequate Wiring Bureau. Colored sketches, together with complete floor plans are available at the Warren National Bank. A scale model, blueprints and complete specifications with alternatives are on display in the bank lobby. For those who prefer other styles of architecture, similar material may be seen for many former Houses-of-the-Month.

Room Lists Circulated In Wide Area

Lists of available rooms and board for hunters who come into this territory each big game season have found a wide circulation. Issued by the Warren Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Warren County Field and Stream Club the lists had rooms and board for 474 persons. Sec. Frank Kottcamp, of the Chamber of Commerce reported today that inquiries had been received and lists sent out to over 100 persons. Lists were also sent to the Honus Wagner Sporting Goods stores, Gimbel's and Kaufman's Sporting Goods Department in Pittsburgh. "Undoubtedly many hunters purchasing outfits there received the lists." This year is only the second in which lists have been made available to hunters and there are many in the county who could take hunters but who failed to have their names on the register. It is expected that in another year places for several additional scores of hunters will be on the register. The matter is in its infancy now but in future years it is confidently expected that Warren county can become the Mecca for big game hunters in the Allegheny National Forest. During the past few weeks several parties from Pittsburgh vicinity point have visited this section intent on buying cottages or sites for cottages and camps. Interest is also being displayed by private capital in the matter of erecting cabins and cottages, in accordance with suggestion made by Supervisor Hemingway, of the Allegheny National Forest. The Chamber of Commerce also has under way a project by which the restaurants and eating places will cooperate in handling the many visitors who will come to the community. A special committee will be named by President, Ed Johnson, of the Chamber to interview the restaurant men and urge them to stay open Sunday during the hunting season and to have other meals for the hunters.

Nurse Makes Many Visits

The report of the nurse presented at the monthly meeting of the Warren Visiting Nursing Association board shows a total of 32 cases handled in the month of October, 17 of these being new cases. In the type of cases handled, chronic medical led with 26, acute medical followed with three and there was one case each for tuberculosis, post-natal, new-born and light care. The nurse lists one sunshine lamp treatment, 52 office and telephone calls in addition to a total of 129 visits. These were divided as follows: Nursing 128, social service and welfare 5, new-born and post-natal, 3 each. Her duties also included assistance with one Crippled Children's clinic and assistance with four Child Health clinics. In the latter group, 8 new babies were brought to clinic and two new children of pre-school age. Nineteen babies came for return visits and 16 in the older group. The organization makes grateful acknowledgement, through the nurse's report, of a number of gifts received during the month. These included a wheel chair, two bedpans, old linen and a number of miscellaneous articles.

Step right up, amigos... Have a Coca-Cola

...Yank friendliness comes back to Leyte

Naturally Filipinos thrilled when their Yankee comrades came back to the Philippines. For along with freedom they brought back all the friendliness that America stands for. You find it quickly expressed in the simple phrase Have a Coke. There's no easier way to say Relax and be yourself. Everywhere the pause that refreshes with ice-cold Coca-Cola has become a symbol of how Yankee friendliness follows the flag around the globe.

Mr. Bartsch has also been able to get a carload of the famous Montana fir Christmas trees. This is the tree that is so popular because of the fact that the needles do not drop off in a warm room. As Mr. Bartsch has been released from the U. S. Navy, he will be glad to welcome all old and new customers at his store. He wishes to extend his thanks for the wonderful patronage of his customers during his absence and is looking forward to greeting his customers in person at his store.

along with 20 others who will represent the Allegheny outfit, have gone through extensive scrimmages during the week at Oil City, and they will leave tomorrow morning for that place and remain until after the game Friday night.

Coaches for Friday's encounter will be J. J. Connors, Oil City mentor who will lead the Alleghenians, and "Red" Johnson, Sharpville head man who will direct the Shenango crew.

In addition to the game, the famed 100-piece Sharon High School band considered one of the top musical organizations in the state, will be on hand to provide music during the game and perform at the halftime.

Friday night's contest to start at eight o'clock, will be a pattern of the annual city of Erie "Save An Eye" game, to be staged there on November 23. The Oil City Lions Club has taken up the project, and it will probably become an annual affair.

All expenses of the players will be paid. Advance ticket sales have begun, and the tickets may be obtained at the local school. Prices are: reserved, $1.50; general $1.00; student, $.75.

Health Enemy Number One

By MULLEN DRUG CO.

Do you know America's public enemy No. 1? Nine out of ten readers will miss that question. It's not tuberculosis nor heart disease, but high blood pressure.

The American College of Physicians has called high blood pressure "the most serious disease in American life."

It is the more serious because of wide prevalence, because it is often too lightly regarded, and because it can lead to conditions which are difficult to correct.

As a killer, it has overtaken and passed heart disease. The annual rate of deaths attributable to high blood pressure runs into the hundreds of thousands.

Your doctor can determine whether you have an abnormal blood pressure. See him once a year. And take all prescriptions to a reputable druggist.

Beyond Tomorrow
By Helen R. Woodward
Chapter 30
A CAR came up the driveway and parked in the curve by the porch. The door opened and a little black dog jumped out and came flying across the yard. Close behind him came a tall man with a slight limp. Anne watched them coming her heart beating high with excitement. Her cheeks were flushed and her eyes shone. John came and stood beside the chair, just looking at her, saying nothing, as if words might break the spell that held them. Anne's lip began to tremble. "Well, I must say—you've been long enough coming!" "You've been long enough sending for me!" "I wouldn't have now if your mother hadn't told me you are a very stubborn fellow! Now what do you mean by planning to go flying off to the ends of the earth without ever discussing the matter with me?" "Would young Mrs. Wayne McDowell be interested in my whereabouts?" She looked up and their eyes met. "Oh, is Wayne planning to be married? she asked innocently. He came around to stand in front of her, his mouth a grim hard line. "Look, Anne—let's stop sparring. Why did you send for me?" "You said you wouldn't come unless I did—and I couldn't be sure I read that Madeline Carlton had been divorced and I was afraid that you—that you—" "Anne!" His hands were on her shoulders, making her face him. "Anne, do you mean—" "She looked at him squarely. "I mean that I love you, John Lowell! What are you going to do about it?" He stood there for a moment as if stunned, then he gave a wild whoop of joy. "Do? What do you think I'm going to do?" And she was in his arms where she had wanted to be for a long time. When he had released her and stood back to look at her she realized that this was not the bitter, taciturn man she had known for so long. This was the man of whom she had gotten a glimpse that Sunday afternoon on the stairway, the man of whom his mother had written: "I wish you might have known him when he was gay and laughing." And she knew in her heart that only she could keep him like this. Later he said, "What are you doing still sitting in this wheel chair? You should have been walking weeks ago?" "I know it! But I couldn't! I guess I've been waiting for you to come, John!" "Then what are we waiting longer for? Come on. Let's go!" He took the rug away from her knees and held out his hand. She had a feeling of utter panic for a moment. Her legs, so long unused, felt like water. He said, "Anne, darling, there's nothing to be afraid of!" She put her hand in his, gave him one trembling look, half laughing, half fearful. She stood up slowly. Rags, realizing that something unusual was going on, began to bark loudly. Mrs. Winslow came to the door and Mrs. Winslow came around the corner of the house to see what the commotion was. They were just in time to see Anne take five steps and fall into John's arms. "I know you're running, the tears coursing down Mrs. Winslow's cheeks. "I knew she needed you, John. I should have sent for you sooner." Her father said, "You won't be afraid any more, will you, Anne?" And Anne answered, "No, father—I'll never be afraid any more." When their exuberant thoughts became coherent again, they made their plans. They would be married in the little country church by Dr. Conover, surrounded and attended by the people Anne loved, just as soon as John returned from his assignment overseas. He thought he might be gone six weeks. It would be Thanksgiving time when he returned. "In more ways than one!" Anne laughed. "Yes," John answered, "for you'll come walking down that aisle to meet me, Anne. By that time you'll be strong enough for it. You must try very hard to be walking when I return." "Of course, I shall John. Nothing can hold me back now—and with you waiting for me at the altar, I know I shall have no trouble walking to meet you." AND so John flew away across the sea to write the story that would make him famous as a writer as well as a military hero. Anne was busy getting her trousseau together and planning for the future. She sent to New York for a billowing white gown and veil and when they arrived she took them to show to Catherine Lowell. "Do you know," Anne confided, "this is the third wedding gown I've bought. Did ever a girl have so hard a time getting a husband?" The big, red-haired woman laughed. "It was fate, Anne, saving you for John—and for me! And this time there'll be no hitches, for John is the determined sort of a man that will let nothing keep him from the woman he loves! I have no doubt that you'll wear this wedding gown!" "And you are coming to the wedding, I refuse to have it without you!" "Nothing shall keep me away," Catherine promised. "I am as determined as John!" At last there came a day when Anne stood at the window and looked out over the fields, covered now with a sparkling blanket of snow. Her heart sang joyfully: "John will be home tomorrow!" Tomorrow! And beyond tomorrow, there stretched a long, lovely vista of days and years during which they would make their life together. THE END.
